Udall Making Move To Patch Up Trouble

Dief Hints Power Talks To Resume

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker implied today his government is prepared to resume negotiations with British Columbia on the financing of the Columbia River power development.

He was asked on his way into the morning cabinet meeting, regarding the Columbia River developments in the news, "Where do we go from here. What happens next?"

The prime minister replied that the Tuesday night speech given by Justice Minister E. D. Fulton at Prince George had provided the answers to those questions.

LETTER KEPT SECRET

Asked if Finance Minister Donald Fleming would be ready to accept an invitation from Premier W. A. C. Bennett to resume negotiations, Mr. Diefenbaker said with a smile:

"We are pen pals. I mean Mr. Fleming and Mr. Bennett are pen pals."

Finance Minister Fleming declined to discuss a letter he has received from Premier Bennett.

The press in eastern Canada has been playing up the "tough speech" made by Justice Minister Fulton as a bitter attack not only against B.C. but also against the United States. It received headline treatment in most eastern papers.

SPEECH CRITICIZED

The Toronto Globe and Mail (Conservative) commented editorially Thursday on the Fulton speech. It was critical. It pointed out that the statements attributed to U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall were "capable of a more innocuous interpretation than Mr. Fulton put upon them."

It added, "Not only do Mr. Fulton's words inject unnecessary international bitterness into a situation already embittered but they distract attention from the real and vital issues which are at stake in the dispute."

CHURCHILL

CHURCHILL 87 TODAY

Oysters, Chops, Wine His Birthday Feast

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, 87 years old today, walked into the House of Commons this afternoon and was greeted by birthday cheers from his fellow members of Parliament.

Entering the House—after a luncheon of oysters and lamb chops, washed down by champagne—the former prime minister made the customary bow to the Speaker.

At the sight of Churchill, his fellow Conservatives and opposi-

sition MPs filled the hall with cheers.

Sir David Eccles, minister of education, who was answering questions, stopped in the middle of a sentence and shouted: "I am sure all right honorable and honorable members will wish to give Sir Winston our affectionate and respectful good wishes on the occasion of his birthday."

New cheers sounded through the House.

SPECTATORS JOIN
Even the spectators' gallery joined the cheering. This is decidedly against the rules—but the Speaker made no move to halt it.

His eyes filled with tears, Churchill—who had reached his seat during the cheering—slowly rose. With the aid of his walking stick, he stood upright and bowing to his fellow Conservatives and to the opposition, said:

"I am very grateful to the House."

This was the signal for more cheering.

Prime Minister Macmillan turned to him and said:

"Perhaps I might be allowed to add my tribute to the greatest of my predecessors."

BENNETT TO TELL WHY FULTON 'WENT BERSERK'

By FRANK BUTTER

Premier Bennett will tell Friday why Federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton "went berserk at Prince George."

The announcement came in a strongly worded memorandum today signed by the premier's executive assistant William C. Budd.

It broke the premier's silence since Mr. Fulton Tuesday night savagely attacked him and U.S. officials for promoting a "squeeze play" to "sell out" the Columbia River power project.

It left the impression that the fur will really fly Friday.

Mr. Bennett will also disclose the contents of a letter mailed Monday to Federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming and which is believed to fully and firmly state B.C.'s position on the Columbia treaty between Canada and the U.S.

This is the memorandum, given to the press gallery this morning:

"The premier will give a press conference Friday morning at 10 o'clock and will give the real reasons why Fulton gave his partisan political tirade and went berserk at Prince George. Also the premier will release his letter to Finance Minister Fleming of last Monday which was received in Ottawa before Fulton's speech."

"The comparison of the premier's letter and Fulton's speech will show who has taken a statesmanlike course and also show who is playing politics."

Mr. Fulton in Prince George charged

the premier with "partisanship, gamesmanship" and "one-upmanship."

He invited the premier to "show some statesmanship."

The premier's letter to Mr. Fleming is expected to state B.C.'s terms for financing the Columbia project.

The premier earlier said he wants to sell all the downstream benefits from the Columbia to the U.S. He said this sale at a price of 5 mills would finance the three Canadian Columbia dams.

Mr. Fulton declared Ottawa unalterably opposed to this plan.

What may have upset Premier Bennett about the fierce Fulton attacks on himself and the U.S. is that the letter to Mr. Fleming contains a new proposal on financing—one which might prove attractive to Ottawa.

The premier's last formal financing proposal contained two choices: either Ottawa assist in paying costs to meet a guaranteed delivery price of Columbia power to B.C., or Ottawa take over the entire project.

There has been speculation since the Fulton speech that the takeover is a distinct possibility.

However, there is doubt in B.C. that the move would be either attractive or practical.

Ready To Talk To Fulton

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Stewart Udall may be ready to forgive and forget in the hope of speeding a final decision on the Columbia River power controversy.

The U.S. interior secretary, stung by an attack by Canadian Justice Minister Davie Fulton, is reported willing to meet with Fulton or other Canadian officials in the hope of reconciling cross-border views and speeding Canadian ratification of the treaty.

Udall's latest position became known after he conferred privately with Livingston T. Merchant, U.S. ambassador to Canada, Wednesday afternoon. Merchant then hurried back to Ottawa.

First reports from those close to Udall indicated he would seek an explanation of Fulton's accusations from Canadian Ambassador Arnold Heeney but the Canadian embassy said it had received no request from the interior department for information or consultation.

DENIES TAKING SIDES

Fulton, in his Prince George, B.C., speech, accused Udall of having "side" talks with Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia and having joined a high-geared propaganda campaign to press the Canadian government into approving the sale of Canadian power to the U.S.

Udall has denied that he is taking sides in the dispute between the Canadian and B.C. governments on the question of exporting power. "All we want," he says, "is a start on the Columbia River project."

What Canada does with the power it obtains from that project was up to Canadians to decide.

Udall said Wednesday he regretted that Fulton had not read an interview the secretary gave to The Canadian Press last Monday when he made it clear he has no intentions of interfering in the Canadian dispute.

MAKES GOOD SENSE

Fulton, in his Prince George speech, quoted Udall as having expressed confidence the Canadian government will permit the sale of Canadian power to the U.S. This apparently was a reference to a press conference Udall held in Seattle last week. Udall later denied he had made such a statement.

He added Wednesday: "I feel that ultimately the Columbia River treaty will be ratified because it makes good economic and conservation sense. But it has become an emotional issue and there may have to be considerable discussion before agreement can be reached."

Formal Talks? —Never

PENTICTON (CP) — Senator Warren G. Magnuson,

chairman of the United States senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce, says that no formal talks have ever taken place between Premier Bennett and President Kennedy on the Columbia River.

Interviewed by Penticton Herald editor Jim Hume following a speech to the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, Senator Magnuson said Tuesday any discussion on the Columbia was very informal.

"There definitely was not a formal talk between Premier Bennett and President Kennedy," the senator said. "If the matter was mentioned at all it was in a most informal way either during the banquet (at Seattle) or in brief after-dinner conversation. There was no formal talk."

During his speech to the Spokane chamber, Senator Magnuson appealed to some 20 Penticton Chamber of Commerce guests to "do what you can to urge ratification of the treaty."

"Each day we delay hurts both our countries,"

HATRED MOUNTING

Tshombe Warned Of Grave Danger

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The United Nations warned President Moise Tshombe today that a wave of violence and atrocities is building up in Katanga as a result of inflammatory anti-UN statements by Tshombe's secessionist regime.

Once the hatred erupts into fighting, the UN said, no one—not even Tshombe—will be able to stop it.

Sture Linner, leader of the UN Congo operation, called on the Katanga president to change his "extremely imprudent" attitude "before it is too late."

Linner's warning came in a letter to be delivered to the Katanga president today. He also protested strongly against the beating of two high UN officials by Katanga paratroopers in Elisabethville Tuesday.

Meanwhile, in Elisabethville, Katanga Interior Minister Godofroid Munongo today deplored the "lack of discipline" in the slaying of a United Nations driver whose body was found Wednesday wrapped in a Katanga army sheet.

The dead man was a driver for an Indian Gurkha major who has been missing since Tuesday night.

Fulton Stands Firm On Columbia Charges

By Canadian Press
Justice Minister Fulton Wednesday night repeated charges that had raised a furor in Ottawa and Washington.

In a hard-hitting speech at a Progressive Conservative dinner at Lillooet, B.C., Mr. Fulton again lashed out at Premier Bennett of British Columbia and United States Interior Secretary Udall, charging a U.S.-Bennett squeeze to force sale of power to the U.S.

It was virtually the same speech he gave at Prince George, B.C., the night before. The minister read a letter from the Yellowknife, N.W.T., Board of Trade which protested damming of the Peace River because it would affect Mackenzie River navigation.

Mr. Fulton said Mr. Bennett needs a licence under the federal Navigable Waters Act before he can go ahead with the multi-million dollar Peace project to be built by the recently expropriated B.C. Electric utility.

In Ottawa, Mr. Fulton's strong inference that Udall was abetting a B.C. propaganda drive to obtain sale of the Columbia River power was regarded as the stiffest reproof in memory for a member of a friendly foreign government.

HOLDS NO POLICY

The justice minister's addresses in Prince George Tuesday night, Kamloops Wednesday and Lillooet Wednesday night strongly reaffirmed the federal position: B.C. will not be allowed to sell its share of Columbia power in the U.S.

Mr. Fulton has repeatedly said Columbia River power is the cheapest that can be provided in B.C. and there will be no federal change of heart about selling Canada's share to the U.S.

The minister says power made available to B.C. through the International Columbia treaty would fit in any proposed provincial and eventually into any national power grid system.

In Vancouver, the B.C. Liberal Association got into the act with a demand for an immediate National Energy Board study on power export and its advantages or disadvantages.

The association suggested further hearings in the province to consider the treaty itself. It also suggested a special legislature committee be set up to hear such experts as General A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission.

DISCOUNTS SPEECH

In Victoria, Attorney-General Robert Bonner described Mr. Fulton's Prince George speech as "an emotional political statement" and added "I doubt if it represents national government policy."

In Kamloops, Mr. Fulton was questioned about Clause Eight of the international treaty which Mr. Bonner said provides for the sale of Canadian downstream power to the United States.

The justice minister said it provides for such sale only so long as the power is not required by Canada.

He added that under the clause such sales would be reviewed every year and would never extend beyond a five-year contract period so that Canada could always get her power back if she needed it.

Mr. Bonner said in Victoria later, Mr. Fulton's comments on the clause were "nowhere supported in the treaty."

ROYAL COMMISSION PROBE URGED

Liberal Blasts Crime in Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—International crime threatens the whole province, Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer told the Legislature Wednesday. He pressed for a royal commission investigation.

In a 2 1/2-hour address, Mr. Wintermeyer presented information collected by the Liberal party during the last eight months. He charged that organized crime with international connections is wide spread in Ontario.

With the indulgence of Speaker William Murdoch, he named names and repeated evidence heard in court cases—some of which have not yet been resolved—to show that syndicated gambling exists in Ontario.

Attempts by Attorney-General Roberts to have some points left untouched failed when Mr. Murdoch allowed the Liberal leader to continue, saying he would rule when it became necessary.

He said there was evidence of negligence and carelessness on the part of the attorney-general's and provincial secretary's departments in failing to enforce laws governing issuance of social club charters.

Premier Roberts sat scowling and silent through Mr. Wintermeyer's speech. He said he would reserve comment until he reviewed contents of the address.

On the Columbia

CLAUSE 8 OF TREATY SOURCE OF TROUBLE

By FRANK RUTTER

The last stand of the battle of the Columbia is being fought over interpretation of one paragraph of the international treaty signed by Canada and the U.S. setting out development of the river's power resources.

Each side in the conflict—the B.C. government and the federal government of Canada—is quoting this paragraph to back its case.

Each side is adamant; there is a deadlock. The paragraph in question is section 1 of Article 8 of the treaty, "Disposal of Entitlement to Downstream Benefits."

It reads: "With the authorization of Canada and the United States of America evidenced by exchanges of notes, portions of the downstream power benefits to which Canada is entitled may be disposed of within the United States of America. The respective general conditions and limits within which the entities may arrange initial disposals shall be set out in an exchange of notes to be made as soon as possible after the ratification date."

There are two key words in this paragraph: "portions"; and "after."

Premier Bennett insists that Canada agree to selling all the downstream benefits to the U.S. and that B.C. will not approve ratification of the treaty until the agreement is reached.

This is the stand he has taken; and his silence today indicated no change.

Mr. Bennett's justification for doing it is that he maintains he can finance construction of the three treaty dams in Canada with the proceeds of the sale of benefits at the price of 5 mills per kilowatt hour. He also maintains he can get that price—but only on a long-term contract.

However, federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton Tuesday in Prince George was just as insistent that this shall not be done.

He said Ottawa will not permit a long-term sale of the benefits, and will not permit sale of all of them, since the idea is for B.C. to use the downstream power as soon as it can.

There is nothing in the treaty clause to limit the length of any contract with the U.S. However, elsewhere the treaty specifies that the downstream benefits shall be calculated annually for each succeeding five-year period.

But Clause 8 does specify that any such sale shall be of "portions" of the benefits.

It also specifies that conditions and limits of any such deal shall be made "after the ratification date."

The U.S. Congress has ratified the treaty; Canada's Parliament has not.

Calgary Fire Toll 7 Dead, 5 Missing

CALGARY (CP)—The death toll rose today to seven in the early-morning fire Wednesday that destroyed a downtown Calgary business and apartment block.

John North, one of four persons rescued alive, died in hospital early today.

Caretaker David Robinson, 35, another of the persons rescued, died in hospital Wednesday.

Five bodies were recovered from the three-storey Cameron Block.

Police had the names of five missing persons, but could not be certain of the identity of the bodies discovered during the day.

Assumed dead were Mary Johnson, James McInnis, Sven Vikon, John Moe and Alex Toball.

The caretaker's wife, Mildred Robinson, was in serious condition in hospital suffering from burns. The other person injured was Mary Cote.

Fire Chief Barney Lemieux said one of the survivors of the blaze told police from a hospital bed of an all-night drinking party in the building, and of waking up to find a companion's clothes in flames.

Chief Lemieux said the location of the party indicated the fire probably started there.

Rockefeller carried with him the slim hope that an enticement may eventually lead to the finding of the 23-year-old art enthusiast, object of a huge search for more than a week.

Defeat and Victory

AT FIRST SIGHT MR. FULTON'S courageous speech in Prince George seems to destroy Mr. Bennett's entire power policy.

Speaking through the minister of justice, the Canadian government absolutely refuses to alienate the downstream electricity of the Columbia River, as demanded by Mr. Bennett. It will not repeal Canada's historic policy of prohibiting long-term power exports. Mr. Bennett's plan to let the United States have all the Columbia power if it will build the necessary dams in Canada is flatly rejected.

In consequence, the Columbia stalemate remains unbroken, the treaty unratified, the Columbia undammed. British Columbia's chance to secure what Mr. Fulton calls the cheapest electricity available now or at any future time has been lost, or at least postponed indefinitely.

But this is not, as it may look, the ruin of Mr. Bennett's strategy. On the contrary, it gives him what he wants. It gives him the chance to impose his Peace River scheme on the people of British Columbia.

Behind all the recent controversy, the flood of provincial government propaganda, the cloak-and-dagger stories from Seattle, stands one fact which explains everything.

It is that the Peace scheme cannot go ahead if the cheap Columbia power is wheeled from the United States turbines into Vancouver. Without the Vancouver metropolitan market to itself, the Peace scheme could not even be financed. Hence Mr. Bennett's supreme objective has always been to keep the Vancouver market, and the markets around it in the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island, exclusively for the Peace scheme. He cannot allow Columbia downstream power to be sold in Canada. It must go to the Americans—who are eager to get it at bargain prices—or the Peace scheme will be dead.

Or, alternatively, if he cannot sell the Columbia power to the Americans, Mr. Bennett can obstruct the treaty. This he has done. Unless he changes his whole strategy and surrenders to Ottawa at the last moment, the treaty is dead and a great international project devised by two friendly nations can be forgotten—at least until another government is elected in British Columbia.

Even then the chances for the Columbia, within visible time, would be slight. For by that time Mr. Bennett will have committed so much of the taxpayers' money to the Peace that its development can hardly be halted. And if it is to supply British Columbia's power needs there will be no room for the Columbia during the next several decades.

In one sense, therefore, the federal government, with high political courage, has defeated Mr. Bennett, applying to his proposed sell-out of power the same veto applied by a former government to the Kaiser dam deal.

A Great Job

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE impending retirement of Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie as president of the University of British Columbia marks the end of an era. Academic historians of the future may regard it as "the era of growth," marking as it does two decades of explosive development rarely matched in the annals of higher education in this country.

For 30 years before "Larry" MacKenzie arrived at Point Grey, UBC had been the poor stepchild of well-intentioned but impoverished governments. It had about 2,500 students, three faculties and one building of distinction—a half-finished library.

In the closing days of the war, Dr. MacKenzie was appointed and began transforming the campus. To house the great influx of veterans, he took advantage of (perhaps "stole" is too strong a word) some abandoned army huts and, once they were safely installed, blandly informed the army that they would make fine temporary buildings for his students.

The impact of the new president's personality on the city of Vancouver was soon felt. Relations between "town and gown," which had been extremely remote, became intimate. Prominent industrialists began to co-operate with the university in research projects, for which additional sums of money were required. Bursaries and endowments were established. Staffs were expanded and salaries raised, until they compared favorably with the best in Canada. New buildings began to appear on the superb Point Grey site.

As a fund-raiser, Dr. MacKenzie was in a class by himself. But he was more than that—a warm and sensitive human being of broad background and liberal outlook, who sought to build in British Columbia

In another and decisive sense Mr. Bennett has defeated the federal government. He has saved his darling, the Peace River scheme, and killed the Columbia.

Naturally, he will blame the federal government for everything. But it will require all his powers of advocacy to persuade the people of British Columbia that they should have sold their power to the Americans, to nourish their industries in competition with ours; to persuade them that the Peace is a safe gamble with their money when its full development depends upon massive exports to the United States which no Canadian government, up to now, has permitted and no future government is likely to permit.

Is it too late for Mr. Bennett to change his mind and compromise with the federal government? Clearly if he would abandon the attempted sale of all the Columbia power to the United States and allow it to be sold in British Columbia as fast as the local market could absorb it he could make an advantageous financial arrangement with Ottawa. The federal government is so anxious to save the Columbia scheme that undoubtedly it would be prepared to supply a large part, possibly all of the necessary capital, since its investment would be fully repaid by the sale of power.

It is to be doubted, however, that Mr. Bennett would accept any such terms. Having agreed to the treaty in the first place and then vetoed it, having committed his precious prestige to the Peace, it is unlikely that he will retreat now, even with the face-saving device that Ottawa would gladly arrange.

At the moment Mr. Bennett is about to approach Mr. Fleming for a final show-down. He has always treated Mr. Fulton with contempt, refused to see him in Victoria and regarded him as hardly more than an awkward adolescent. Apparently he thinks, however, that he can do business with the federal minister of finance.

But it is inconceivable that Mr. Fleming will do business on anything like Mr. Bennett's terms. If there has been some disagreement in the federal cabinet, as reported, if some ministers were ready to compromise on power exports with Mr. Bennett, that disagreement has passed. Mr. Fulton's Prince George speech was a firm and, in broad principles anyway, an unalterable statement of federal policy.

Since Mr. Bennett's entire program depends on excluding Columbia power from British Columbia, since the federal government's policy depends on using it here, no grounds of compromise are visible. Barring a change in Mr. Bennett's attitude, the Peace gamble is going ahead. The Columbia may be harnessed some day by our grandchildren. By that time the United States will have developed other power sources for its own use and no second Columbia treaty may be negotiable.

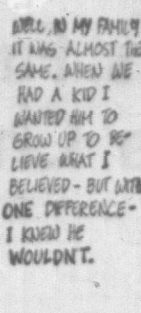

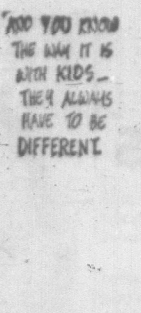

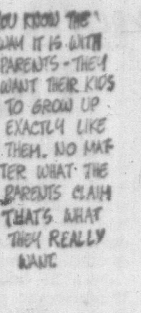

an institution which could take its place in the international fraternity of scholars. Nothing better typified this spirit than his welcome to the Sopron University students who found sanctuary at UBC, to pursue their work in forestry, after the agonizing days of the Hungarian rebellion.

Internationally-known scholars and personalities came to Point Grey, renowned in the sciences as well as the humanities. When Mrs. Roosevelt officiated at the opening of International House, she found on the west coast of Canada a university which had attracted one-tenth of its students from foreign lands.

Today, as he prepares to enter on his last term at UBC, Dr. MacKenzie can look back with satisfaction on 17 years of productive work. The student body has grown to 13,000, making it the second largest in Canada. The campus is adorned with handsome buildings and residences. Faculties now number 10, so that it is no longer necessary for young British Columbians to go east for education in medicine, the law, architecture, fine arts and other pursuits. Concurrently, an expert extension department has "taken the university to the people" and carried on valuable work in the four corners of the province.

Along the way, "Larry" MacKenzie has had many honors; no less than 17 honorary degrees, executive posts on distinguished international bodies such as the Carnegie Foundation, membership on such important national agencies as the Massey Commission, the Canada Council and the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

But his enduring monument is the University of British Columbia as it stands today. With some dedicated help, he made it. He deserves the thanks and gratitude of all the people of the province.

FROM LONDON

This Event Will Mold the Future Into a New Shape

HERE in London, as in Paris, you can all but see the future being molded into a wholly new shape. The outcome is not sure as yet. The hopeful process can be stopped dead in its tracks if Nikita S. Khrushchev manages to bully the Western Allies into retreating at Berlin—which is precisely why Khrushchev has been trying so hard. Or this process may perhaps be aborted by a final failure of Gen. de Gaulle's Algerian policy or by some major, unforeseen accident of British domestic politics, or by some other peripheral piece of bad luck.

Alsop

But the fact remains that the British and the six nations of the European Common Market are for the first time negotiating with evident determination to reach eventual agreement. The French have the largest responsibility among the Europeans; and the French leaders who are in charge of the negotiations told this reporter, "This is one time when we cannot afford to fail." Their British counterparts use almost the identical language.

The practical problems the negotiators must solve are thorny in the extreme. It will be very difficult indeed to hammer out the compromises by which Britain will enter the new European as sociation, without absolutely breaking the historic links with the Commonwealth.

Furthermore, even the smallest of the practical problems that have to be solved sometimes have inordinate importance. British imports from Cyprus are a tiny item in pounds sterling, for instance. But if the British cut Cyprus adrift economically, the Soviets will soon see that a good bargain is going begging. And since the Cypriot Communist party is already dangerously strong, the Soviets may then be able to make their bargain, with unpleasant results in the Mediterranean.

Nonetheless, one should not be misled by the difficulty, multiplicity, and importance of the problems that have to be solved or compromised before Britain can enter the European Community. The key facts are that the British want to join at last, and the Europeans, including the often prickly French, very much want the British to join.

The will to reach agreement on both sides is a pretty good guarantee that agreement will eventually be reached.

Saying that this event will mold the future into a wholly new shape is a simple statement of fact, containing no trace of exaggeration or hyperbole.

As everyone now recognizes, the formation of the European Common Market was an event of the greatest economic significance. It rapidly promoted an economic forward surge in Europe. By its success, it soon exerted severe pressure on the British to join the club.

It is now beginning to put severe pressure on the U.S., as well, to begin thinking about new kinds of world trading relationships.

But as long as Britain stands aside, the effects of the Common Market are bound to be largely limited to the economic sphere. Without Britain, the Common Market is not big enough and representative enough to transform itself into a true European community.

Leaders of the six member nations often boast of their success in forming a European community. But in reality, the main political role of the existing Common Market has been to strengthen and cement the informal Franco-German partnership established by President de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer.

Every prospect will be altered, however, if and when Britain joins the European club. Automatically, the enlarged Common Market will then become the germ of a European Community; and it will take a great deal of ill will and bad luck to prevent the germ from growing into a full-scale politically united Europe.

This does not mean that the British decision to join foretells the future formation of a United States of Europe, or anything of that elaborate, Utopian sort. As long as Gen. de Gaulle holds power in Paris, he will bitterly oppose any development that dims the national identity of France. The British, who have a rooted aversion to constitution-making, will carry on where de Gaulle leaves off.

But complex political institutions are not needed to transform the new European economic community into a political community. The needs are simply a sense of common interest and a knowledge of shared purpose, which will lead the member nations to act together in the political sphere as well as in the economic sphere. That is what is important.

If economic union leads on to united European political action, as is only natural, the importance of the result will be difficult to overstate.

In Western Europe, fifteen years ago in ruins, not many years ago still bitterly disunited, a wholly new grouping will take shape. And even if this new grouping is not a true nation, it will be a true power.

Thus the count of the earth's giant powers will be increased from two—the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.—to three—America, Europe, and the Soviet Union. Thus the whole world balance will also be altered. Sometimes, in truth, the world balance may be altered in ways that will inconvenience both of the existing giants. But this promised emergence of another giant power within the Western Alliance is still a great and hopeful event.

A Few Cultural Exhibits From Cuba for Our Benefit

THE Cuban embassy has apparently decided that now is the time to make up for its past neglect of the parliamentary press gallery.

Western

It has accordingly despatched to each member a large and heavy bundle of assorted propaganda items. This activity, presumably, is directed to some purpose. Is it, perhaps, the development of trade or a new approach to some problem of Canadian-Cuban relations? Apparently not, for the only reference one can find to Canada is a dateline, "Ottawa," on the monthly, News from Cuba, which seems to be a successor to Weekly News from Cuba, published in Havana.

It should not be supposed, however, that the Cubans of Fidel Castro are parochially minded.

There are interesting items about a ship of friendship (from East Germany), a new ambassador (from Hungary), a distinguished visitor (from the United Arab Republic), a cultural treaty (with Communist Viet Nam), a coming state visit (by the president of Czechoslovakia) and goodwill messages addressed to various Latin American states.

Cultural exchanges are generally recognized to be good things and one can only welcome, therefore, a pair of essays: the first a panoramic history of Cuban letters and the second a glowing biography of Jose Marti, the Cuban writer and patriot who was one of the leaders of the revolt against Spain.

But the work of Marti was published in January 1953 to mark the first centennial of his birth and there would seem to be no particular reason for re-directing it now to a Canadian audience.

This is, however, a year of education in Cuba and illiteracy is being combated by special "Fatherland or Death Brigades" of worker-teachers despatched to the "most remote corners of the Republic." The educational effort is presumably being extended to the press gallery, with bundles as substitutes for "brigadeers."

If so, there is no doubt about the message that the Cubans are attempting to convey. It is approximately as subtle as a Stalin tank. All the evil in the world is centred in the United States. This is the common denominator of everything in the bundle.

The Cubans, evidently, have heard that there is "anti-Americanism" in this country and equate this sentiment with their own feelings towards the United States.

Thus the point about Marti is that he came into conflict with the United States, always the unspeakable enemy. But this is not quite all. The socialist revolution is Marti's heir and today Fidel speaks with Marti's voice. While the cult of personality may in some countries have fallen into disrepute, anyone can discern from these pages that it still burns brightly in Cuba.

The Yankees, we read in a cultural bulletin, are "today's Nazis." Yankee democracy is "one of the cleverest frauds put over in the course of history." Cuban research brings us the startling intelligence that the United States is run in Nazi style, by one thousand persons. The proof is a statement by Senator Aiken of Vermont, made some years ago, that a vast national work (the St. Lawrence Seaway) was being obstructed by one thousand Americans.

How the seaway came to be built, in spite of the One Thousand, the Bulletin fails to explain. But it does go on to point out that these thousand are also the war-mongers, the exploiters and the neo-Nazis now oppressing our poor neighbors and menacing world freedom. Anyone interested in working himself into a froth about the Americans should benefit from another cultural exhibit, a poem by Felix Pita, entitled Eternally Young, a Teacher Forever.

It concerns one, Conrado Benitez, who we are told, was murdered in the Escambray Mountains "for being Negro, for being poor, for being a worker, for being young, for being a teacher." It was written by one who thinks that "Poetry without a social message is betrayal." While the message is too long to be quoted in full, the flavor may be sampled in these representative lines:

"He was murdered by the hand which murders
In Algeria, in Laos, in Guatemala,
The hand of the bomb of Hiroshima.
The hand which burned the children alive
In North Korea.

For further clarification consider this verse:

"The sinister idiot Eisenhower contributed a million dollars
To the murderers.
Texaco—do not forget this, oil workers—
Gave ten thousand dollars to the murderers.
And Cardinal Spellman, criminal in purple,
Gave ten thousand dollars to the murderers.

Who killed those who faced the firing squad in those monotonous days following the victory of the Revolution? The poem doesn't say.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Children Should Know

Congratulations to Greater Victoria School Board for its stand on teaching students A-bomb survival.

How can parents keep children in ignorance of such things as bombs? If such was possible it would be frightening to youth to awaken to the fact such things do exist and that their own parents have not prepared them. How could they trust their parents?

Seems to me it is elementary to teach children not to play in busy streets because cars and trucks can kill. I have yet to see a child worry about the danger, but they do heed the sound of a horn if they are on the street.

Even my five-year-old asks to have newspapers and news magazines read to her. From the funnies to the headlines my husband and I do our best to explain in simplified terms.

Ignorance is not bliss.

Dam Building Only?

In pamphlet published April 1960 by the B.C. Power Commission, it was stated, "On April 17, 1945, the British Columbia Commission was formed to 'improve the availability and supply of power in the province.'"

A few of your readers who still hope to understand the Columbia River treaty, would probably be interested to learn in what way the treaty proposes to improve the availability and supply of power in British Columbia.

Up to this date the news seems to indicate that the treaty proposes improvements for the State of Washington in the U.S.A.—but how about B.C. in Canada?

Let us not be submerged in enormous debt to build dams on the Columbia until a fair number of Canadian citizens can comprehend the alleged advantages.

What Uncle Sam wants—Uncle Sam gets.

Taking Issue With Rev. Hills

I should like to take issue with Rev. W. Hills on several statements he is reported as having made to the Women's Canadian Club this week.

First of all, he suggests that Voice of Women members should work through existing women's groups in their endeavor to bring about a peaceful solution to the world situation. The answer to this is had existing women's groups taken an effective stand at all on the matter, Voice of Women would not have come, almost spontaneously, into being. Except for the occasional resolution passed at meetings they have for the most part done nothing. And if the Rev. Hills had any knowledge of the present thinking of women's groups, he would not suggest it.

It is almost impossible for Voice of Women to find an opportunity to put forth its very moderate proposals to women's groups, such as PTA's, W's and, for that matter, the Women's Canadian Club itself. These groups choose to regard the subject of peace as "political" and therefore outside their frames of reference. Could it be, perhaps, that one of the reasons they do not wish to take a stand is because they fear cheap, red "smear" tactics?

To say that I was furious when I read the padre's fatuous pronouncements is putting it mildly. I am glad to say that other women got furious too. Several have contacted our organization with a view to joining it, since reading the press reports of the Canadian Club meeting. In any case, anything is better than disinterest. A psychiatrist on a BBC program recently observed that the general apathy on the issue of peace throughout the country (England) is a more neurotic attitude than the protests of those who believe we are in imminent danger of destroying civilization.

MRS. W. BURCHILL,

... REPORTING

OTTAWA—In international relations it's often the little things that count—like President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina by-passing the United States to make Canada the first country he is visiting on his world tour.

It used to nettle Canadian pride that practically all foreign VIPs who came to Ottawa did so almost as an afterthought, while on their way home from Washington. But foreign chanceries are becoming aware of this Canadian annoyance, and foreign bigwigs are getting into the habit of calling on Ottawa before going to Washington, as President Urho Kekkonen of Finland did a few weeks ago, and as Dr. Frondizi is doing this week. It's good diplomacy: it means something to the Canadians, and the Americans don't care.

But that isn't all. Formerly most VIPs were paying mere courtesy calls because they happened to be in the neighborhood. Now very often they have business to transact here—perhaps seeking increased trade or greater cultural exchange, or perhaps Canadian government support for their national position on some issue in international relations.

The Argentine Embassy here denied that Dr. Frondizi would seek Canadian support against Britain for Argentina's long-standing claim to the Falkland Islands, which the Argentines call the Malvinas. But it is obvious that Frondizi has traded very much in mind: 32 Argentine businessmen who are camp-following the presidential party around the world have spent their four days in Canada conferring with government trade officials and visiting businessmen and industrial plants in Toronto and Montreal.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

Never on Sunday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As the Virginia legislature interprets the Gospel, it is implicitly a sin and expressly a crime to sell bacon on Sunday.

But in this self-same legislature's view of the credo, beer may be sold on the Sabbath with impunity, and presumably in good conscience.

These are two of the more eye-catching aspects of the new Sunday blue law that recently went into effect in the old Dominion. To some eyes, they appear to be incongruous.

I will leave it to the theologians to say whether the politicians have made statute jibe with Scripture. But as a layman, I am prepared to discuss some of the practical effects of the law in my suburban neighborhood.

Those of us who reside on the Virginia side of the Potomac, and elsewhere in the state, have been living with the law for about four weeks now. In the beginning, as when the earth was created, there was chaos.

It took a couple of weeks for store owners to reach any sort of unanimity on what goods where, or were not, verboten to Sunday shoppers. Most of them now have posted lists for the guidance of clerks and customers.

As I understand it, the lawmakers did not intend to cut off the source of supply of items of necessity or of an emergency nature.

But in a neighborhood store that I sometimes patronize, there is a seventh-day embargo on such goods as baby pants, can openers, fly swatters, handkerchiefs, keys, mouse traps, shoe laces and television tubes.

It doesn't require much imagination to envision an emergency need for any of those items—at least not if you have mice, flies or children in your house.

The main controversy thus far involves the operation of laundromats. Some legal experts hold that the washing of clothes on Sunday is not a necessity. Others maintain that cleanliness is next to godliness.

Thus far, however, matters in Virginia suburbs have not reached the point that they have in Maryland suburbs, where rival automobile dealers have been turning each other in for blue law violations.

In my neighborhood, the major impact has been felt by those chaps who spend their weekends performing do-it-yourself projects.

Deprived of hardware supplies, but not of sudsy beverages, they now sit in around the house drinking beer.

U.S. SURVEY SHOWS

86.4% of Households Read Daily Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—News-papers are read every weekday in 86.4 per cent of the 54,000,000 households in the United States, according to a survey conducted by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association into the customs of the daily newspapers' reading public.

The survey, made public Wednesday, found that the newspaper is not normally read at a single sitting.

"The typical reader picks up and looks into his paper 2.4 times each weekday," it reported.

The study showed that: 1. The newspaper reaches every segment of the American public.

2. Its highest concentration is among the higher-income, better-educated, more influential people.

It plays an intimate part in the personal lives of people at all social levels.

Findings of the survey were presented by the bureau of advertising, with the American Association of Newspaper Representatives as co-host, at a meeting of 900 business, advertising and press executives here.

The bureau said the survey involved 4,826 interviews representing 2,449 households in 622 sampling points and that it was the most comprehensive ever made of the U.S. reading public.

Legal Aid for All Urged by B.C. Judge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A veteran British Columbia Supreme Court judge says the courts should be open to everyone regardless of their ability to pay.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson told a legal forum Tuesday night that if the law societies can't provide a scheme of legal aid, then the government will have to do it.

The judge said that generally Canadians are prevented from going to court unless they have money. In England, people could litigate and pay what they could afford.

"I think it's the right system and one that we will have eventually," he told an almost capacity audience in the 2,800-seat Queen Elizabeth Theatre. "If there isn't some insurance scheme built up this will become a government obligation."

Mr. Justice Wilson acted as moderator at the 2½-hour forum on household and family legal problems presented by the Vancouver Bar Association. J. Arthur MacLennan, president of the association, acted as chairman.

Guardian Comments On Times Series

LONDON (CP)—The Guardian of Manchester comments on a "notable" series of articles in the Victoria Daily Times by Bruce Hutchison criticizing the Canadian government's attitude toward Britain on the Common Market problem.

The newspaper says Hutchison, editor of the Times, "writes as a strong liberal opponent of Mr. Diefenbaker but there seems no doubt that his views are shared by many of the more farsighted and progressive Canadian businessmen."

"Though the substance of the articles cannot be adequately summarized in a few sentences the main points are worth repeating."

"In the first place, says Mr. Hutchison, Canada's attempt to obstruct British entry to the Common Market is shortsighted; Canadians should recognize that Britain's prosperity and the strength of Europe are inseparable and that both are vital to the security of the West."

"Mr. Hutchison believes the best hope for Canada in the long run lies through the development of a free world economic community and he would like to see Canada join hands with the United States and Europe in seeking to bring that about."

Another Island Copper Prospect

Times Business Editor
Another lower Vancouver Island copper prospect — eight miles south of Cowichan Lake on Robert's Island — is under active exploration by Silver Standard Mines Ltd., a private company headed by Allen Harder and George Apps, has undergone g-ophysical exploration and magnetometer tests which have revealed three anomalies on the two main claims, the Alpha and the Beta.

Under the agreement, Silver Standard will supply $100,000 for a trenching and diamond drilling program and if this is satisfactory will purchase shares in Alpha to the amount of $50,000 and supply a loan of $100,000 repayable from production.

Eventually, under the agreement, Silver Standard could obtain control of the property. H. B. Gilleland, Silver Standard's mine manager, said that two factors — good hauling roads and availability of custom ore milling at Britannia — made the proposition very attractive.

Western Silica Products Ltd., which holds large deposits of high-grade silica at Sicom and at Longworth, east of Prince George, has announced it is planning financing to place its properties in operation.

A new board of directors, headed by Harry Hartley of Vancouver as president, has been elected to reactivate the company.

The group feels, Mr. Hartley said, that there is tremendous industrial potential for silica in B.C. and that it could be the foundation for a lucrative glass manufacturing industry. As well as in glass, silica is used for industrial ceramics, building blocks, ferro-alloys and fluxes for the steel and base metal industries.

Total silica reserves held by the company are estimated at more than 100 million tons.

Bailey-Seiburn Oil and Gas Ltd. is seen as having income from gas in 1962 five times as great as this year, in a study prepared by Dominion Securities. A one-third boost in oil is also expected.

Dominion is also predicting a 60 per cent increase in earnings next year with further increase in 1963 due to export of gas to California and the accelerated exploration program which the company has started.

A third quarter progress report from another western oil company, Western Decala Petroleum Ltd., shows income up to $602,429 compared with $370,662 in same period last year and for the first nine months the total is $1,773,394 against $1,719,880 for 1961.

Net loss for the third quarter has been cut to $16,551 from last year's $91,376 and to $109,383 for the nine months compared with $267,329.

Coronation Credit has issued a first quarter report from its new Toronto office showing that shareholders received a 44 per cent increase in dividends, gross income was up 71 per cent and net earnings by 44 per cent for the three months compared with the same period last year.

Mortgage receivables were up 28 per cent and stood at $13,577,913.

An attempt to give a simple explanation of the car insurance set-up in B.C. along with the working of the new Traffic Victims' Indemnity Fund is being made through a commented film slide program worked out by Public and Industrial Relations Ltd. of Vancouver.

John Howarth of Vancouver demonstrated the program in Victoria Wednesday afternoon and explained that a cartoon treatment was chosen in an attempt to break down the rather technical picture to one which could easily be understood by the layman.

Among the points made by the program was that compulsory auto insurance, once widely advocated in all parts of North America, has failed to live up to expectations in the places where it has been tried.

Another point explained is why rates vary from one point to another and from one age group to another.

The film program will be used to educate interested groups in the workings of the car insurance industry.

'We Want Our Rights' Declare Shareholders

First organized attempt in the Victoria area to persuade members of the B.C. Legislature to seek a change in the Power Development Act, under which the B.C. Electric Co. was expropriated, got under way Wednesday evening at a meeting in the Orange Hall attended by 94 B.C. Power Corp. shareholders and other interested persons from Victoria and Island points.

Victoria lawyer Herbert Matthews, chairman of the Shareholders' Committee for Fair Expropriation Terms, opened the meeting by declaring flatly: "We want our rights."

"As shareholders of B.C. Power we have been deprived of our rights to negotiation, arbitration and appeal to the courts in the price paid by the B.C. government for the B.C. Electric, principal asset of our company," he declared.

BY-PASSED ACT

B.C. had a Power Act, the chairman reminded his audience, which had been used for many years in similar cases. But the government deliberately by-passed this act to deprive the B.C. Power Corp. and its shareholders of any chance to secure what they considered a fair price for their property.

"The premier and the attorney-general both know we are not objecting to the B.C. Electric take-over—a government can take anything it likes, even our lives in time of war—but they should have had sense enough to give the courts power to set compensation," he declared.

At another point, alluding to the premier's stunt at Kelowna of firing a flaming arrow at a raft loaded with cancelled government bonds, Mr. Matthews said:

"Perhaps Mr. Bennett thought he could continue playing 'Robin Hood' by taking the B.C. Electric over for the people. What he didn't recognize was that he was hurting a lot of the 'little people' who owned B.C. Power shares."

Mr. Matthews urged his audience to write, phone and meet the M.L.A.s and attempt to persuade them to the belief that in a free country there was no reason why people should be deprived of their rights.

"It's not a matter of getting more money—although we believe we should get more—but of having done to us as we would do to others," he said.

Mr. Matthews introduced James Clark of Vancouver, chairman of the first shareholders' committee, who explained how it had grown from a group of three persons to the point where committees were being organized all over the province.

PETITION PLAN

D. A. Bremner, another Vancouver member, outlined the committee's petition plan and urged the audience to follow it up vigorously. Petition forms were distributed prior to the meeting.

Also present were Mrs. D. A. Livingston, another member of the Vancouver group and William Martin, assistant treasurer of the B.C. Power Corporation, who stated the company's position in the matter and answered a number of questions regarding the legal position involved and company plans for partial distribution of cash assets.

The distribution of $18.70 a share, which was announced about 10 days ago, would be made before the end of the year, he stated.

SAFEWAY STORES TO INVADE U.K.

Washington Faces Bitter Trade Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lively dialogue over foreign trade policy—should trade barriers be lowered or not—is spreading into the far corners of Washington. It presages a bitter legislative fight next year when the present trade law expires.

Holding up the protectionist or high tariff end of the dialogue at the moment is Representative John Dent, Pennsylvania Democrat. His House of Representatives subcommittee is holding a week of hearings generally aimed at airing the views of segments of industry which want more protection against foreign competition as a matter of survival.

The administration is masterminding the other side, pushing for liberalization of trade as a means of increasing the economic strength of the West.

World Ship Tonnage Increases

LONDON (Reuters)—World merchant shipping tonnage afloat increased by more than 6,000,000 tons during the year ending last July, Lloyd's of London has reported.

The underwriting firm's statistical tables showed total tonnage rose by 6,146,000 tons to 135,916,000 tons.

Though the U.S. led world merchant fleets with a total of 24,238,000 tons, its total, which has fallen steadily since the Second World War, was down by 399,000 tons from the previous year.

In second place was Britain with a total of 21,465,000 tons, an increase of 334,000 tons.

Canada was in 11th place with a total of 1,669,000 tons, an increase of 91,000 over the previous year.

Soviet Envoy Walks Out Of Testimonial Dinner

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet ambassador to the United Nations walked out of a dinner Wednesday night after Vice-President Lyndon Johnson said "any Soviet attack on Europe would be a most hazardous enterprise."

Zorin was joined by Laika Kizya, the Ukrainian representative, and Yordan Tchobanov, Bulgaria's ambassador to the United Nations, and their wives. The ambassadors of Poland and Yugoslavia did not join Zorin in leaving.

Zorin refused to talk to reporters in the Hotel Astor ballroom, where 800 guests were assembled to honor Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the UN, who received a humanitarian award.

Later, at Soviet UN mission headquarters, Zorin accused Johnson of "embarrassing" him and making "political" remarks, adding:

"At a dinner of a humanitarian function... such a statement was out of place."

REJECTS ACCUSATIONS
Continued Zorin: "From what I heard and saw, Mr. Johnson began accusing the U.S.S.R. of some expansionist aspirations and actions which I, as the representative of the Soviet Union, cannot listen to."

PM to Open Highway

from any quarter, including Vice-President Johnson."

Johnson, who read his speech, had called attention to the building of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and said:

"Its forces have steadily expanded in numbers and efficiency. Any Soviet attack on Europe would be a most hazardous enterprise. The principal base of Western power outside the U.S. is vastly more secure." Stevenson, who was honored with Mexico's "World Humanitarian Award," said he had no comment on Zorin's walkout. Mexico is a non-profit organization founded by Dr. Peter D. Comanduras and the late Dr. Tom Dooley which sends American volunteer doctors and nurses throughout the free world.

Victoria Daily Times
THURS., NOV. 30, 1961

Former federal veterans' affairs minister and postmaster general, Hughes Lapointe, has been appointed Quebec agent-general in London, it was announced today. Mr. Lapointe will occupy offices in Canada House. Later, Quebec plans to open a provincial house of its own.

Alberta Follows B.C. In Holding Tax Line

EDMONTON (CP)—With little or no debate the Alberta legislature, has adopted a bill which would allow it to take over portions of the personal income and corporation tax fields being vacated in the next fiscal year by the federal government.

The 65-seat House spent less than 4½ hours in session before it was prorogued Wednesday after giving third reading to the Alberta Income Tax Act. The rapidity of the approval surprised even government leaders, who held little hope that the special session called to adopt the measure could be wrapped up in two days.

The Opposition, including one Liberal, one Conservative, one Independent Social Credit and one coalition member, sided with the government in approving the bill. There was no recorded vote.

The Opposition confined its comments to urging greater exemptions under the new federal-provincial agreement. Provincial Treasurer Hinman replied this could not be done unless the province set up its own taxation system to collect the portion of the tax being turned over to it by the federal government.

The federal government, scrapping tax-rental agreements in effect since 1947, will vacate 16 per cent of the personal income and 9 per cent of the taxable corporate income fields in the 1962-63 fiscal year. It will vacate a further 1 per cent of the personal income tax field each year until a maximum 20 per cent is reached in 1966-67.

The federal administration will allow the provinces to levy provincial taxes in these fields, setting the rates above or below the amount being vacated, and collect these taxes for the provinces. If provincial legislation adheres to federal tax regulations.

Alberta will be the second province to hold the line on taxation rates, assessing residents during the next year the same amount the federal government imposed during the current year. B.C. was the first province to do so.

Mr. Hinman said the new agreement will give the province about $38,000,000 from personal, corporate and succession taxes in the next year, the same amount it received this year under the tax-rental agreement.

RIVIERA GEM THEFTS BLAMED ON U.K. GANG

LONDON (AP)—Big-time jewel robberies in the south of France have been traced to a British crime syndicate that sends squads of gunmen from London to plunder the Riviera international set, police sources said Wednesday.

A tip from Interpol, the international police agency, put Scotland Yard on the track of the syndicate, informants said. The robberies have netted $500,000 worth of gems.

Scotland Yard gradually pieced together a picture of the syndicate. The organizer, though his name is still unknown, is believed to be rich and outwardly respectable.

The sources said Scotland Yard does know the identities of five men who have travelled to France for robberies and needs only a little more evidence before making arrests.

'No Promises' On Tofino Road Repairs

PORT ALBERNI — Highway Minister Gagliardi is making no promises on reconstruction of the Alberni-Tofino road, he has advised the Port Alberni council by letter. The letter, copy of one sent to the Tofino-Ucluelet board, said every effort will be made to maintain the road but a major reconstruction job could cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

NO NEED TO GO FISHING

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal researchers have come up with another boon for busy housewives. Instant fishcakes.

A blend of cooked fish and potatoes is dehydrated to the appearance of fine flakes. It can be reconstituted, heated and on the table in minutes.

The process was developed by Dr. E. A. Anselberg of the agriculture department's plant research institute here. A year ago he came up with a new formula for instant potatoes.

Four Hurt In Traffic Accidents

Four people were treated in hospital for minor injuries resulting from traffic accidents Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital were Mrs. Marion Hamilton, 83, of 4575 Bonnie View Place, and her daughter-in-law Mrs. Winnifred Hamilton, 41, of the same address.

The two were in a car driven by the younger Mrs. Hamilton which struck a power pole at Stadacona and Fort.

Also treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital later in the day was Mrs. Marie Weinburg, 3050 Admirals Road. She was a passenger in the car driven by Jack L. Weinberg of the same address, involved in a three-car bumper-to-bumper collision at Douglas and Topaz.

FROM REAR
According to police the Weinburg car was struck from the rear by a car driven by Mah Sing Ming, Cormorant street, while they were stopped for a car waiting to turn off Douglas onto Topaz. The third driver was Patrick Russell, 829 St. Patrick.

Mrs. Weinburg received an injured neck.

About an hour later Edward Trondsen, 2522 Quadra, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for abrasions.

He was a passenger in a car driven south on Blanshard by David McMillan, 24 Simcoe, and involved in a collision at Humboldt with a car driven by Ronald V. Hurst, 261 Howe.

Tubercular Refugees Doing Well

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Of 325 tubercular refugees admitted to Canada during World Refugee Year, only a comparative handful still remain in sanatoria, the United Nations was told Tuesday.

Canadian delegate Mrs. Jean Casselman, member of Parliament for Grenville-Dundas, outlined before the 103-member social committee the plan under which as a contribution to World Refugee Year the Canadian government set up a $600,000 special fund to bring in three groups of tubercular refugees from European camps.

"All told there were 826 of these refugees of whom 325 were tubercular," she said. "The tubercular refugee program was much more successful than could have been anticipated, in that the refugees adapted readily to their new environment and established themselves in a comparatively short time."

"By July of this year only 43 of the refugees remained in the sanatoria."

$9.2 Million Asked In Suits

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Five suits for $9,200,000 have been filed in Los Angeles Superior Court over the deaths of six persons including four Canadians in an Indiana plane crash.

Sixty-three persons were killed in the March 17, 1960, crash of a Northwest Airlines plane near Cannelton, Ind.

The complaints were directed Wednesday against Northwest, Lockheed Aircraft Company and General Motors Corporation. Lockheed manufactured the Electra propeller, using some General Motors parts.

The complaints were brought in behalf of surviving relatives of William S. Gardner, his father Edward R. Gardner, George Heuchert and his wife Gladys, all of Winnipeg; Leland A. Watson and Mrs. Anna C. Wolf, of Minneapolis; and Mrs. Martha C. Chalfen and her three children, Linda, Debra and Richard, also of Minneapolis.

$102,000 Paid Out For Share In Bull

CHICAGO (AP)—A Nevada cattleman paid a record price of $102,000 Wednesday for a one-third interest in an Aberdeen Angus bull at the International Livestock Exposition.

Wilbur May, owner of the Double Diamond Ranch at Reno, paid the sum for part ownership of Ankonian Bull 57th, a 16-month-old animal owned by Ankon Farm of Rhinebeck, N.Y.

UNEMPLOYED ORDER CALLED 'FARCE'

Edgelow Joins Winter Work Protest

City public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow Tuesday lined himself up with protests from at least six B.C. municipalities against the provincial government's winter works policy.

Under attack is a government decision—sustained at two cabinet meetings since protests began—which requires municipalities to use unemployed men, particularly those on social assistance, for winter works projects.

Only 10 per cent of a winter works project crew can be composed of regular or seasonal city workers without jeopardizing the province's 23 per cent share of labor costs.

WON'T WORK

"This is a farce because it will not work," said Ald. Edgelow. "We are being forced to put regular, experienced employees out of work and take inexperienced men on staff."

"There are so many projects which can be done under winter works but it is a hindrance if you can't put experienced key men on the job," said Ald. Edgelow.

"Labor is suffering through this sort of game which is going on."

CREATE JOBS

Saanich, Nanaimo, Trail, Burnaby, Prince Rupert and New Westminster have protested the requirement on the grounds that they had to fire regular men to create openings for unemployed.

But a government source said the municipalities were entirely to blame for that situation.

"Some have absorbed employees who were first hired for winter works projects into their regular crews, expecting they would be able to keep them on throughout the year by way of government grants," he said.

"This defeated the purpose of the plan and since the municipalities have realized their up with them."

LOOKS AT SPORTS

Neutral observers of Western Canadian football, long accustomed to the precise, polished performances of Jack Parker, Herman Day and Kenneth Ploen, have long discounted the quarterbacking talents of Bernard Faloney, the Hamilton operator.

Mr. Faloney, they say, cannot pass, kick or run. Mr. James Trimble, the Hamilton coach, agrees. "Faloney," he says, "can't do any of those things too well. All he can do is win football games."

Faloney's "weaknesses" recall the story of the Britisher visiting Boston for the first time.

After seeing the sights (including the Boston Bruins) he prepared to return to the "motherland." "Before you go," insisted his host, "there's one thing you must see. My pointer. Extremely talented animal. We'll go hunting in the morning. I'll show you what he can do."

Early next day the party plodded across marshlands, sopping to encounter ducks. An unsuspecting flock came hurtling over the trees and sailed over the lake.

The hunters aimed, fired. A bird plummeted into the water.

The Bostonian's pointer went into action. But instead of swimming toward his prey, he walked across the water, mouthed the bird gently, and walked back.

...But What Else Can He Do?

"Fantastic!" cried the Britisher. "I say—would you sell him?"

"Well, really—"

"I'll give you $800 for him."

"If you insist," said the host, eager to bolster Anglo-U.S. relations.

Shortly after arriving home, the Britisher went to his club and related to the members the details of his trip. Very little surprised them except that he had bought a dog. "This is a special animal," he said proudly. "I'll show you at the shoot tomorrow."

Next day, while the members looked on, the Britisher plucked a bird with one shot. Hardly had the feathers touched the water than his pointer walked out, picked up the bird, walked back across the water, and obediently laid it at his master's feet.

"You see," said the delighted Britisher. "Splendid animal."

"How much did you say you paid for him?" he was asked.

"$800," said the Britisher.

"Pity," was the reply. "He can't swim."

The Wits String Quite a Line

Enough of this seriousness. The proprietor of this bin has work to do. A small matter of predicting the winner of Saturday's Grey Cup between the Winnipeg and the Hamiltons.

Life would be a whole lot simpler—and far less dangerous—if legislation was passed restraining columnists from sticking out their scrawny necks. But with people like itchy-fingered Nikita around, this is no time for reticence.

Only one problem stands in the way of a clear-cut choice. After stoking up the incense and rummaging through the ashes, there is a feeling that neither side can win.

Eastern wits (Half and Dim) claim that the Hamilton line is untouchable, impregnable, unassailable and mean. Western pundits (Cactus Ack-Ack Wells and Dick Bedclothes) say the Winnipeg wall is untouchable, impregnable, unassailable and mean. Anyway, this is their line, even if they're stringing it.

Against these fearsome fortifications it would seem no backfielder is safe, save those holding a machete or a chain-link fence in reserve.

Heavy perusing of past performances only increases the fog. Hamilton whopped Winnipeg, Calgary scared Hamilton to death, Winnipeg consumed Calgary like a hyperthyroid lamprey. What does this prove? That they all need saliva tests?

Nobody Can Win the Pot, But...

Much has been said about Hamilton's great recovery last Saturday after trailing Toronto by 18 points. Certainly the contest was lively, full of enthusiasm and highly gay. But hadn't the Hamiltons sliced up the Argos three times in the regular season? Any horseplayer can tell you that in a match race the best horse will win three times out of four.

As a team Winnipeg is hard to knock. True, Mr. Bud Grant's troops fail to stimulate the hemoglobin with their frequently dull, grinding techniques. They seem not to be so concerned with razzle-dazzle as with winning. In this they resemble Sir Edmund Hillary who couldn't do The Twist yet still managed to beat Everest.

This prose started with mention of Faloney, the quarterback who can't swim, and will finish with him.

Several years ago Faloney quarterbacked the Edmonton Eskimos against Montreal, Alouettes for Lord Grey's spittoon. For three-quarters of the game, some 28,000 people and the Als were plunged into a state of utter confusion trying to figure out what Faloney was doing with the football.

He didn't have too much help that day and, in fact, had to rely on a Montreal fumble to win. This time he has any number of skillful citizens to abet his cause. The Winnipeg defence is able. After tangling with Faloney it will also be cross-eyed and overcome. By about seven points, say.

PUCK DATES ALTERED

Small Audience Sees Live Bout

Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League officials hope a change of night will bring a change of attendance—for the better.

Unhappy with thin midweek attendance at Nanaimo and fewer Saturday fans at Memorial Arena, the league will experiment with Saturday games in Victoria. The experiment begins Dec. 16 with Navy at Nanaimo.

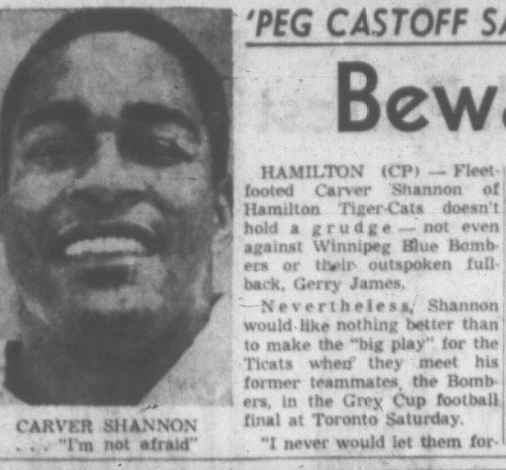

Saturday telecasts of National Hockey League games and boxing events are believed responsible for smaller gate receipts here.

But without competing telecasts, Nanaimo drew less than 200 fans in its arena Wednesday night. The lack of support didn't have any effect on the team. Scoring fast and frequently, Nanaimo polished off IAA 12-4.

Instead of a telecast bout, Nanaimo fans had a live match thrown in at regular prices.

Nankimo's Buddy Dumont and IAA's Jim McNeill were the participants. Irked when McNeill high-sticked him, Dumont dumped stick, gloves and engaged his rival in heated combat.

Both received minor and

'Sell Canucks' PNE Directors Advised

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver alderman Wednesday night urged Pacific National Exhibition directors to sell Vancouver Canucks and said former National League players Clint Smith, Babe Pratt and "some others" are interested in buying.

Frank Fredrickson advised a PNE directors' meeting to "get out of something you know nothing about" and "let someone else invest their risk capital."

He said an offer was made for the Western Hockey League club several months ago and added the group of former NHL players now is interested.

The PNE bought the club which occupies the northern division cellar spot this year from Coley Hall who now has the San Francisco Seals franchise in the same league.

Fredrickson also questioned the PNE's decision to bring Canucks former manager back to try to get the team moving. He said recent remarks made by Chapman about playing coach Phil Maloney were disturbing and unfair.

FOUR DOWNS, 11-MAN TEAMS REQUESTED

Grid Rules Discussed

TORONTO (UPI) — Canada's nine pro football clubs met here today to consider suggested rule changes that would further "Americanize" the game.

The closed-door Canadian football league meeting was to discuss proposals for an increase in the number of American imports, the use of four instead of three downs and a switch to 11 instead of 12-man football.

Several of the ideas seem certain to be rejected; others, however, appear to have a good chance of acceptance.

The closest thing to unanimity among the nine teams appears to be on the subject of increasing the present 29-man playing roster. Some clubs favor playing everyone in camp, but a compromise of about 32 players seems likely.

The thinking among most general managers was that, since the club paid for reserve players anyway, they might as well dress them, even if only to handle punt returns

'PEG CASTOFF SAYS JAMES ...

Beware Gerry! Carver's Hot

HAMILTON (CP) — Fleet-footed Carver Shannon of Hamilton Tiger-Cats doesn't hold a grudge—not even against Winnipeg Blue Bombers or their outspoken fullback, Gerry James.

Nevertheless, Shannon would like nothing better than to make the "big play" for the Ticats when they meet his former teammates, the Bombers, in the Grey Cup football final at Toronto Saturday.

"I never would let them forget," says Shannon, who in a surprise move by Winnipeg coach Bud Grant was cut earlier this season after two good years with the Western Conference club.

Shannon said the reason Grant gave for dropping him was that he didn't appear to be catching passes the way he did before he injured his left index finger. It was broken badly and the ligaments torn. He can no longer bend it but he denies that he tries to cushion the ball because of this or doesn't catch as well.

"I would do anything to help win this game and from a personal viewpoint I would like to play a big part in it," the 197-pound, six-foot-one speedster said. "I've been waiting for this chance to satisfy my own pride."

The 23-year-old halfback is mystified by reports from Winnipeg that he never came up with the big play for the Bombers. He said Grant didn't use him properly because most of the time he was sent to the outside on running plays or as a decoy.

"It got to the point where the other Western teams knew exactly what I was going to do. What do they mean by making the big play? I didn't get to carry the ball that often either. Nearly every time Bud sent in a play it would be for one of the other halfbacks. He apparently didn't have too much confidence in me."

He doesn't take James seriously, although the "Bomber" star said recently: "Shannon has helped our club a lot since he left." James said a good football player would make a mistake once or twice but "Shannon would make it over and over again."

"Gerry just likes to pop off," Shannon said in an interview last night. "He's always doing it. It's just like him, so why pay any attention to him. There's no use in having a feud with him."

TRIMBLE SATISFIED

Shannon has been one of the Ticats' best ground gainers. Coach Jim Trimble has great praise for the ace runner and pass catcher. He has been running inside and outside with equal effect under Trimble's system and is rated one of the most feared rushers in the Eastern Conference.

"Maybe they didn't like the way I ran out in Winnipeg," Shannon said. "I'm not a full-back type or runner but I can go the middle if necessary and I'm not afraid to run over anyone if there isn't a hole to get through."

This was Shannon's answer to a statement by James that implied he lacked the "savvy and determination" of Ray Jauch, his replacement in the Winnipeg backfield.

Trimble said any score Shannon has to settle with James is between the two players.

"Shannon has given us no problems. He's done a great job for us. We don't conduct a background investigation into any troubles a player has had with a former team. He has stuck his nose right into the thick of things for us. The first time he flinched on me it would be the end of him. That's the way it is with all my players."

Ladysmith Club Awarded Victory

Ladysmith lost a soccer game Saturday but picked up two points today.

The reward for losing twice was affected by Victoria and District Football League officials. They ruled Nanaimo made one too many substitutions (four instead of three) in defeating Ladysmith 1-0.

Ergo, Nanaimo was credited with the loss, Ladysmith the win and the two points.

'JUST LIKES TO POP OFF'

Bernie Gets Nod in Poll

TORONTO (CP) — Bernie Faloney, quarterback with the Grey Cup finalist Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Wednesday night was named the outstanding football player in Canada. He took over the Schenley award from three-time winner Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos.

Football writers and broadcasters in the nine Eastern and Western Conference cities made their choice in a poll.

They also named defensive end Tony Pajaczowski of Calgary Stampeders as outstanding Canadian-born player of the year and tackle Frank Rigney of Winnipeg Blue Bombers as lineman of the year.

The 29-year-old Faloney, who led Hamilton from a last place finish in 1960 to first in the EFC this year, beat out Parker for the award. Faloney, who first played in Canada with the 1954 Grey Cup Edmonton Eskimos, will receive a $3,000 gold trophy, a $1,000 Canada savings bond and a diamond eclip.

ESKS DOMINATE

The East now has won the outstanding award four times since it first was made in 1953. The West has won it five times, each time by an Edmonton player. Billy Versells won it in 1953, Jackie Parker, 1957-58-60, and Johnny Bright, 1959. Sam Elcheverry of Montreal Alouettes won it in 1954, Pat Abruzzi of the Als in 1955 and Hal Patterson of the Als, now with Tiger-Cats, in 1956.

Pajaczowski, first lineman to win the Canadian player of the year award, won over Bobby Kuntz of Toronto Argonauts to give the west a 5-3 lead in this bracket. A native of Verdun, Que., the 25-year-old Pajaczowski took over from Ron Stewart of Ottawa Rough Riders, 1960 winner.

Gerry James of Winnipeg won it in 1954 and 1957, Norm Kwong of Eskimos in 1955-56, Ron Howell of Hamilton in 1958 and Russ Jackson of Ottawa in 1959.

Rip-Snorter Sure If Coaches Right

TORONTO—The opposing coaches in Saturday's Grey Cup final agree on one thing. Each is convinced his team is the best he's ever had.

Bud Grant rates his Winnipeg Blue Bombers above his Canadian professional football champions of 1958 and 1959 because of added experience and depth.

Jim Trimble, whose Hamilton Tiger-Cats were the Bombers' victims in those years after winning in 1957, was equally firm.

"This is the best Tiger-Cat team I've had even superior to that of 1957. It's better because it is a more mature club."

As to what will happen in their fourth meeting, neither would say.

Grant: "We'll have to be good to beat them—absolutely."

Trimble: "It's going to be one helluva ball game."

A Judge in Vancouver has recognized the importance of the Grey Cup game to Canadian citizens.

At the trial of George Cadogan and two other men on a fraud and conspiracy charges, Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan promised an all-male Assize Court jury time off Saturday to watch the game on television.

The weatherman's advice to fans at the game is: Bundle up warmly.

A cold air mass covering the Prairies is heading south.

The helicopter is being put at his disposal by a Hamilton firm so that he won't lose too much time in his preparations for the Tiger-Cat Grey Cup final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday in Toronto.

Ordinarily, he would travel by car, which takes at least an hour each way.

Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats will use a helicopter to fly to Toronto to attend various Grey Cup functions this week.

Indications are that it will be cloudy with some snowflurries and a mercury reading in the 20s by game time, 10 a.m. (PST), the forecaster said.

Blades' Agar 'Climbs Wall' And Seals Win

Los Angeles Blades and San Francisco Seals, newest entries in the Western Hockey League, are gradually building one of the league's better rivalries.

The teams, and in particular Blades' coach George Agar, provided most of the excitement as San Francisco edged Los Angeles 7-6 Wednesday night.

In other games, Edmonton Flyers and Portland Buckaroos — respective leaders of the Northern and Southern Divisions — scored victories. Edmonton moved 10 points ahead of its northern rivals with a 5-4 win over Calgary Stampede while Portland increased its southern lead to nine points by downing Seattle Totems 3-1.

A crowd of 3,169 at San Francisco saw Agar blow his top after the Blades had fallen just short with a desperate third-period rally. When the buzzer sounded, Agar rushed timekeeper Dick Sager and insisted that three seconds remained to be played.

EJECT ANGRY COACH

Chuck Greenstone, vice-president of the Seals, was sitting near Agar and said the Blades' coach swung at him, the timekeeper and the latter's equipment.

Guards finally hauled Agar away and he stormed to the dressing room. Earlier this month, Agar fined all but one of his players $100 each for a mediocre home-ice performance against San Francisco.

Wednesday's blowup overshadowed the Blades' garrison finish. Trailing 6-1 after the first period, Los Angeles cut the deficit to 7-3 after the second and just missed a tie with three unanswered third-period goals.

BUCKS BREEZE IN

Portland won its sixth game in a row by building up a 3-0 lead over Seattle before 6,129 fans at Portland. Bill Saunder, Tom McVie, with his 100th WHL goal, and Arnie Schmaltz had the Portland goals while Don Ward answered for Seattle.

Edmonton scored three times in the second period to defeat the Stampede in a game watched by 1,923 fans at Calgary. The win moved Edmonton farther ahead of second-place Seattle in the Northern Division while Calgary remained in third place.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Don Heffner, former major league infielder, has been named manager of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

PALMER'S HAD ENOUGH OF LONG GOLF JAUNTS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Future long trips abroad are cut out for golfer Arnold Palmer. He has had it.

"I'm still tired and I've been back in the United States more than a week," the 32-year-old Palmer said Wednesday as he prepared to tee off in the $20,000 West Palm Beach Open.

Palmer returned last week after 45 rounds of golf in 47 days in what amounted to a world tour.

He competed in St. Anne's, England, with the victorious U.S. Ryder Cup team, flew from London to Sydney, Australia, then to Tokyo, then Manila and back to New York.

CUP EVENT STARTING

De Costa Back With Scots Side

Gorge Hotel, Victoria West and Canadian Scottish all failed to win their final games as the Victoria and District Soccer League's first-half schedule came to a close last Sunday.

Still, all three rate as the teams to watch in the Jackson Cup knockout tournament which gets under way next Sunday.

Gorge, although blanked 2-0 by Evcoos on Sunday, still managed to claim first-half honors.

Vic West was held to a 1-1 draw by Esquimalt, but the point was enough to give Wilf Sahler's youthful charges second place — a point behind Gorge.

SCOTS SIXTH

The best the Scots could do was to finish in a sixth-place tie with Brodies. Rivals, however, aren't taking the Scots lightly just because they finished in the middle of the table.

There are other factors to consider. Like, for instance, the return to District League competition of youthful Larry De Costa.

He'll be in goal for the Scots when they take on Lady Smith in one of the four first-round games Sunday. Transfer of De Costa to Scottish from Columbus of the Pacific Coast League was announced today.

De Costa, another one of an outstanding crop of local net-minders, was signed by the Coast League team several weeks ago, but has seen limited action. He sought his transfer because he prefers to play regularly with a District League team.

FIRST-ROUND DRAW

In addition to the Scots-Lady Smith game at Reynolds Road Park, other first-round games in the Jackson Cup event are: Vic West vs. Duncan at Heywood Avenue Park; Gorge Hotel vs. Nanaimo at Central Park, and Esquimalt vs. Kickers at Bullen Park. Evcoos, Heaneys, Saanich and Brodies all drew byes into the second round, to be played Dec. 10.

CURLERS' CORNER

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Big Bert Nelson and Gary Leibel, standing side by side, remind me of Mutt and Jeff but there's nothing funny about the plans they have to sprinkle a dash of class and color into the local curling picture.

They revealed efforts to establish a "super" curling league.

The plan is offered, in the main, to supply the district's best curlers with the best in competition. A number of members from both Esquimalt and Victoria Curling Clubs are quite interested and it is hoped that, eventually, a rink or two may be brought in from Duncan.

So far, theirs is a modest beginning. Four rinks are ready to go, but the backers of the "AA" league will undoubtedly be hearing from other foursomes planning to step into the forthcoming Consols playdowns. Leibel, Nelson, Steve Hayhurst and Gord Moore of the Victoria Club have their sides ready for the first session — Saturday afternoon at the Esquimalt rink.

It's a league that might be worth watching.

Keep Your Eyes on Those Thirds

Leibel, incidentally, has been named skip of the Esquimalt rink that Monday takes on Hec Gervais and his Canadian curling champions from Edmonton.

Danny Martell will be Leibel's vice-skip. Wes Young will throw second rocks and Bill Dunstan will lead. Young is a perennial prize-winner who represents the Navy in local and tri-service bonspiels and Dunstan played third for Tony Gutoski when the Victoria icemaker won the provincial title in 1958.

Martell is not as well known, locally, as the other trio but he's a young fellow who may make his mark in a big way. An artful shotmaker, he curled with Bob Nesbitt's Kimberley rink in the 1957 Canadian junior championships.

Gervais will play two games against the Esquimalt quartet Monday, at 2:30 and 5:30. Gervais has in tow the same mates that helped him to win the Brier in Calgary last March — Ron Anton, Ray Werner and Wally Ursuliak.

Here's a youngster, the experts say, who could be a great one.

No Playoff Between Local Clubs

Some curlers have been under the impression that Esquimalt and Victoria's successful representatives in the Consols are to play off for the right to advance to the Vancouver Island finals. Tain't so. Winners at both clubs advance, along with the champions from Nanaimo, Duncan, Port Alberni and Comox Valley.

Actually, the playdown committee wouldn't want it any other way. The addition of Esquimalt, raising to six the number of participating clubs, balances the Island playoffs. They don't have to worry about byes now.

Unless additional rinks enter before Friday's deadline, it looks as if eight rinks will vie for the Victoria title and 10 will go hunting for the right to represent Esquimalt.

Skips with title ambitions at Esquimalt are Clarence Dobbins, Dunstan, Jack Moir, Bill Brown, Tom Moore, Trev Emberton, Young, Bob Jones, Jack Tucker and George Slocumb. At Victoria Club, Gutoski, Moore, Hayhurst, Larry Marshall, Jim Dickson, Ken Sturrock, Walter, Gallagher and Norm McBride have thrown their hats into the ring.

Leibel, the icemaker at Esquimalt, will again throw third for Gutoski.

Floyd Favors Eight Count

TORONTO—Cus D'Amato was frothing at the mouth again here Wednesday, but he came out a clear loser in a verbal battle with Ontario Athletic Commissioner Merv McKenzie.

D'Amato worked himself into a rage in McKenzie's office because the commissioner has refused to use non-Canadian judges for Monday's heavy weight championship bout between Floyd Patterson and Tom McNeely.

I'LL FIND OUT

"I'm questioning the integrity of the commission," D'Amato shouted. "Our understanding has been violated. I'm going to take this to a higher authority. Who? I don't know, but I'll find out."

McKenzie wasn't impressed. Asked who D'Amato could appeal to, he replied:

"I don't know—maybe my wife."

"I've tangled horns with D'Amato two or three times over this," he told reporters present at the dispute. "We'll use our judges or he can take the fight out of here—to Bongo-Bongo if he wants."

Earlier the McNeely camp won a round when it was agreed to use six-ounce gloves instead of the eight-ouncers asked by Patterson.

But the champ won an important one too, when McKenzie said the mandatory eight count would not be waived as it usually is in title fights. Pete Fuller, McNeely's manager, was almost as angry as D'Amato over this.

"The first time I ever heard of this not being done was in the March 13 fight when the two eight counts in the first round probably saved Patterson's title when Johansson floored him twice," he said.

The fight will be limited to closed-circuit television, but carried in Canada on the CBC radio network.

Oak Bay Clipped By Mount View

Mount View, defending senior high school soccer champions, wrapped up regular league play Wednesday with an impressive 3-0 victory over Oak Bay.

Jim Clark, John Yankowski and Doug Richardson handled the scoring.

Mount View and Victoria High meet Wednesday at Royal Athletic Park for the 1961 championship.

SEEKS REFORM

New Group May Enter Politics

The glimmering of a new political organization in B.C. was seen Wednesday night in Victoria when Robin Dunsmuir, member of the pioneer Vancouver Island mining family, announced that he intended to establish a new group called the Political Reform Association.

It would be dedicated, he said, either to seeking power as a political party or to supporting a party which would guarantee basic democratic rights which, he felt, were being lost.

Mr. Dunsmuir made his surprise announcement at a meeting of the Shareholders Committee for Fair Expropriation Terms for the B.C. Electric Co., and stated he would call a press conference within a short time to give more details of his plan.

Mr. Dunsmuir declared: "We are losing our democratic rights as fast as the Italians lost theirs under Mussolini and the Germans under Hitler. Even the Russians are better off than we are because they are at least ruled by a group of men, while we are governed by one man."

MANY PEOPLE

Explaining how he had been moved to his action, Mr. Dunsmuir said that for three months following the expropriation of the B.C. Electric, he had met with many prominent people in the province, a number of them disillusioned Social Credit supporters.

They had told him: "Get something going and we will join you."

He had also discovered, he claimed, an aura of fear in business circles.

UNDER CONTROL

"The premier has so much business under his control," he said, "that businessmen are afraid to oppose him for fear of losing government contracts."

One big Vancouver firm, he stated, had lost a government contract because one of the partners had made complimentary remarks about a member of the government.

Following the meeting, Mr.

Dunsmuir said in an interview that he had been a long-time Social Credit supporter himself because he believed the party stood for free enterprise. "I was even a member of the Social Credit League," he added, "but I'm completely disillusioned now and I know many other Social Crediters, including MLAs, are as well."

'ENDORSED' COMMERCIAL PRODUCT

Road Employee Back on Job

Highways department laboratory supervisor Robert B. Glen has been reinstated in his job after an investigation into an unauthorized letter endorsing a commercial product.

Mr. Glen was suspended earlier this month after a letter was written to the manufacturers of a road-base compound called Pozand saying it was recommended for use by the department.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said Wednesday Mr. Glen had committed "an indiscretion." But he had always been a good government employee.

Mr. Gagliardi said the department was still testing Pozand as well as other similar products.

He would not say anything either for or against Pozand.

SIKH PUNISHED FOR NOT DYING

AMRITSAR, India (Reuters)—A religious "court" of five Sikh priests today sentenced 76-year-old Sikh leader Tara Singh to shine the shoes of pilgrims and wash dishes in a communal kitchen for five days because he broke his pledge by ending a "fast unto death" after 48 days.

Official city voters' list, available at City Hall today for 50 cents a copy, shows a drop of 49 persons from last year's total of 20,424 voters.

Search-Rescue Setup To Be Faster, Better

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wide-ranging plans have been discovered to expand search and rescue operations in British Columbia, with planned use of new types of air and sea craft to improve speed and efficiency.

Representatives of the RCAF, Royal Canadian Navy, the U.S. coast guard, department of transport marine services representatives and RCMP and other government agencies discussed the plan at a meeting here this week.

Air-sea rescue division of the RCAF spokesman said new equipment will include two weather ships to cost $6,000,000 each, an Albatross amphibian aircraft, an amphibious helicopter, a ship-to-shore communications circuit and three U.S. coast guard-type cutters.

TENDERS NEXT JUNE

The weather ships will replace wartime frigates now stationed in the Pacific. A spokesman said they will be the most modern of their type in the world.

Design of the new ships already has been approved and tenders will be let in June, 1962. They are expected to be on station in 1965 and will carry on survey and scientific work as well as search operations.

A third Albatross plane will be added to the two already in service with air-sea rescue. An amphibious helicopter will be obtained for rescue operations

ROLE FOR FROGMEN

The new communications circuit will link the Vancouver rescue co-ordination centre with marine radio stations at Prince Rupert, Sandspit in the Queen Charlottes, Bull Harbor, Tofino, Victoria and Comox, using microwave and submarine cable links.

Two of the new cutters will be operated by the department of transport and the third by the fisheries department. An RCAF spokesman said they will be in operation soon on the B.C. coast.

Frogmen will play a large role in rescue operations. Frogmen operating from helicopters have been found useful in the tidal flats areas on the southern B.C. coast and helicopters have been equipped with new drop-rescue gear consisting of two automatically-inflating dinghies containing food and medical supplies.

As long as the world lasts! Cellulose comes from trees, and Rayonier Canada can produce over 400 million pounds of it a year. And since we manage British Columbia forest lands scientifically, we grow more cellulose than we harvest. So don't worry about shortages! 'Appeals to Both Sides of Fence'

LILLOOET, B.C. (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton raked Liberal Leader Pearson Wednesday night for suggesting—in Mr. Fulton's words—that "we let the Americans" take the responsibility for using nuclear weapons in defence of Canada.

Civil Servant For 60 Years Dies at 91

Former deputy minister of lands and forests, Harry Cathcart, died in hospital on Wednesday night at the age of 91.

Mr. Cathcart had what is believed to be the longest service in provincial government in Canada, a record of 60 years, the last 10 under Lands Minister A. Wells Gray. He retired in 1946.

Mr. Cathcart was honored by the late King George VI for his long service in 1945 when he made a member of the Imperial Service Order. He was invested with the insignia by Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward.

Born in Ireland in 1870, Mr. Cathcart came to Victoria as a boy. He joined the then department of lands and works as a messenger boy at the age of 13. Later he worked through the positions of stenographer and clerk to that of chief clerk.

In 1918 he was appointed superintendent of lands, and in 1929 became deputy minister. He served in this post for 16 years.

Mr. Cathcart is survived by the widow Annie and son Henry, both living at 1274 Johnson.

Musical Society Studio Group Meets

Studio group of Victoria Musical Art Society will meet Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McColl, 2536 Thompson Avenue, at-8. Continuing the series on musical form, "suite form" will be studied with piano examples provided by members of the group.

Horse Lives to 44

WHITE ROCK (CP)—Death caught up at the weekend with a horse said by its owners to be 44 years old. The old horse, named Diamond, owned by Mrs. E. M. Emerson, was bred near Clinton in the province's Cariboo country. Old Dobbin's date of birth was listed as Feb. 2, 1917.

In a speech to a Progressive Conservative party meeting here, he suggested that Mr. Pearson lacks the courage to state that Canada must accept responsibility for her own defence.

Mr. Fulton said the Liberal chieftain claimed recently that Canada should not accept control of nuclear weapons on Canadian soil, but suggested a Liberal government would consider letting the U.S. have control over them.

"I find it hard to believe that a national political leader would even contemplate the derogation of Canadian sovereignty which would occur if the U.S. military were to take charge of the most effective means of defence for Canada," Mr. Fulton said.

"... Would Canada be any more protected because Americans could then 'push the button' if we are to be attacked, the attack will come whether Canadians or Americans are at the controls, and I hope Mr. Pearson is not suggesting that American personnel are more competent than are Canadians."

APPEALS TO BOTH SIDES

"Frankly it appears to me that Mr. Pearson is trying to appeal to both sides of the fence. He is suggesting that we let the Americans take the responsibility for the duty."

"He does not seem to have the moral courage to say that Canada must accept a large part of the responsibility for her own defence, and he lacks the moral courage to make a stand on his own."

"It is, to say the least... 'weakness personified.' But it is typical of what the Liberals have to offer."

RCMP Not Protected By Bill of Rights

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's Bill of Rights does not supersede the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act, Mr. Justice D. R. Morand of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled Wednesday in dismissing a policeman's appeal against a conviction.

Michael J. Walsh was convicted under the RCMP Act of conducting himself in a scandalous manner and sentenced to pay a $50 fine. A recommendation also was made that he be dismissed from the force.

Walsh appealed on the ground that he had been refused counsel, contrary to the Bill of Rights. He argued that Inspector H. L. Jordan of Toronto, who heard his case, was biased and had denied him a fair hearing.

Mr. Justice Morand noted that Walsh had been represented by a staff sergeant. Inspector Jordan had refused to allow him professional counsel. This, said Mr. Justice Mor-

Plea for Red China

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — William O. Douglas, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, says that Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations and Formosa should be demilitarized and placed under United Nations control. "The free world can't indefinitely continue to draw the bamboo curtain and pretend Red China doesn't exist," Douglas said Wednesday night at a lecture at Monmouth College.

CITY BLAMED FOR CASH LOSS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice T. W. Brown, in an arbitration decision handed down Wednesday, placed responsibility for the loss of a $2,243 bank robbery trial exhibit with the city of Vancouver.

The exhibit was part of a group of exhibits in the trial of three men charged in an $8,262 bank robbery. Two of the men were sentenced to prison terms.

The money was placed in a police court safe during the preliminary hearing. It disappeared the day before the trial two months later.

Canada, U.K. ECM Split Never Existed—Hamilton

SASKATOON (CP) — A "split" between Canada and Britain over United Kingdom membership in the European Common Market never existed, Alvin Hamilton, federal agriculture minister, said Wednesday.

Mr. Hamilton, replying to questions following his address to students at the University of Saskatchewan, said that Canada would have no right to interfere in a decision by Britain on Common Market membership.

He said Britain had asked Canada for an opinion on the question and the opinion had been expressed after Canada made an estimate of the effects on Canadian trade if Britain joined the Common Market.

The minister said Canada welcomes "any group of nations which organizes to improve trade conditions for its members but does not restrict its trade to itself."

Mr. Hamilton said the Progressive Conservative government wants Canada to move into an era of lower tariffs. He said most Canadians also supported a policy of lower tariffs.

He said most Liberals in Canada, "both at the rank and file and at the higher levels," did not want to see a re-establishment of trade restrictions that would hamper progress.

The minister, commenting during the question period, said western Canadians get a distorted picture of the attitude of the Canadian government's policy on tariffs because they live "under the umbrella of the Sifton press. The Sifton people figured that because previous Conservative governments had stood for high tariffs, the Diefenbaker government necessarily did so."

Mr. Hamilton said that because Liberals wanted western Canadians to hold the same opinion as the Sifton press, the Liberals did not welcome Mr. Hamilton's addresses to western audiences. The Liberals say "Don't come west to explain it, or you'll confuse the people," Mr. Hamilton said.

The minister said the present-day newspaper reporter too often lost his sense of objectivity. The reporter considered himself a moulder of public opinion, Mr. Hamilton said, and the result was that newspapers were propaganda vehicles, not only on the editorial page, but on every page.

He said that after serving in Ottawa, "my main impression is this: I don't think I'll ever believe implicitly in the truth of a news story again."

SON CHARGED AS BURNABY MAN MURDERED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roy Ellis Selby, 41, was charged with capital murder today in the shooting death Wednesday of his 79-year-old father Edwin. No plea was entered and the accused man was remanded to Friday.

The elder Selby was found dead in the kitchen of a small Fir Street bungalow. RCMP officers had received a telephone call from a man who said Selby had been shot and needed an ambulance.

Selby's wife, Ann, ran from the house a few minutes earlier and sobbed an incoherent story to neighbors.

Police said the dead man, a retired dockworker, had been shot once in the right chest, the bullet passing through his heart and lung.

Indian Chief, Wife Die From Poison

Salmon Roe Cause of Death

TOFINO—A highly respected Indian couple residing on the Opatshat reserve, three miles from this west coast settlement, died Tuesday from food poisoning, while a third poison victim is recovering in hospital here.

RCMP said Chief Francis Frank and his wife Rachel, died a few hours of each other after eating a concoction of salmon roe.

The third person, Mrs. Nellie Fran, daughter-in-law of the dead couple, was saved when an anti-toxin was rushed in from Vancouver by air and road.

According to Dr. H. R. McDairmid of Tofino, cause of death was "botulinus poison."

Father Thomas Lobsinger, missionary, said Chief Frank and his wife were a highly respected couple.

He said they ate a sort of cheese made out of fermented salmon eggs, but somehow it got contaminated.

Alex and Joseph Frank, sons of the dead chief, discovered the elderly couple stricken in their home Sunday. There is no positive information as to what date they ate the poisoned food.

The couple and the daughter-in-law were taken Monday to Tofino in a fishboat and on the following day Mr. and Mrs. Frank died.

Danger Seen In Planning Economy

NANAIMO—Chairman J. V. Clyne of the board of Macmillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited warned Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night some forms of economic planning can be dangerous.

Mr. Clyne said there is a world of difference between economic planning and a planned economy. Responsibility for over all economic policies should never be taken out of the hands of elected government.

"The creation of new departments of government is not the answer. The machinery already exists to enable government to plan wisely through its fiscal, monetary and trade policies."

LOOK FORWARD

Mr. Clyne said Canadians can look forward to continued economic rewards for their work if planning is carried out under policies which give investment capital some measure of confidence regarding its future.

This, he said helps develop trade, which in turn creates a monetary structure and policies which will not degenerate into unnecessary regulations.

ONEROUS TAXES

"However, if policies are confused, taxes become onerous and co-operation between various elements in the community is diminished, no amount of planning will be able to develop the free way of life and the standards of living which we have come to know."

Policies which meant lower tariffs and encourage capital to develop resources have helped the province to grow and prosper, Mr. Clyne added.

'Blackmail' Castro's Reply To Guatemala

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro announced Tuesday night the government of Guatemala has decided to permit establishment of a Cuban government in exile unless former Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz is forced to leave Cuba immediately.

Arbenz has been living in exile in Cuba for some time. Castro said the diplomatic communication from Guatemala was relayed by Panamanian officials. Guatemala is among the nations which have severed relations with Cuba.

"The note from Panama does not merit a diplomatic reply," Castro said in a television broadcast monitored here. "It is cynical, shameless blackmail."

Whites Beat Negroes In Bus Station Row

McCOMB, Miss. (AP)—Five Negroes were beaten and kicked by white persons at a bus station Wednesday in what the U.S. justice department called "an outbreak of violence."

Later the Negroes left for New Orleans under heavy police protection.

The bus station closed about 10 minutes before the New Orleans-bound bus arrived. When the bus arrived, police blocked off the area and a taxicab brought the five Negroes—three men and two women—to the middle of the street. They boarded the bus under police protection and there were no incidents.

The review by the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission follows conclusion Wednesday in Ottawa of the commission's cross-Canada public hearings.

Unless further public sessions are held to hear briefs from French-speaking groups—and this is considered unlikely—the commission now will analyze the material presented to it, weigh the effect on the public interest and eventually make recommendations in a public report to Justice Minister Fulton.

OPENED LAST JULY

The commission opened public hearings in Ottawa in July and has since heard testimony from various government, health, consumers and manufacturing representatives in major cities across Canada. The public sessions followed three years' preliminary inquiry under the Combines Investigation Act.

Wednesday's closing session featured much of the testimony and promotional and advertising activities by drug companies.

In an earlier sitting the commission heard evidence to the effect that manufacturers' pricing guides and catalogues suggesting price for the sale of pharmaceutical drugs tend to result in uniform prices and reduce competition.

In rebuttal, F. R. Hume of Toronto, general legal counsel, Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said that the commission during public hearings across the country had heard no evidence to support the contention that a "monopolistic situation" existed in the pharmaceutical drug industry.

Mr. MacLeod, however, added that material gathered in a preliminary closed inquiry had not led to concluding there was any actual pricing agreement among pharmaceutical drug companies. If such had been the case, by law an inquiry would have been launched.

Noting the expansion of the drug industry he believed it was the larger, older-established drug companies who had experienced most from this expansion.

NOT MOTIVATED BY PRICE
But competition in the drug industry, unlike some others, was not motivated primarily by price.

In the pharmaceutical drug industry, he said, excessive prices did not necessarily mean excessive profits also were being made. It was possible that funds were being used for wasteful and extravagant purposes such as some forms of promotion and advertising.

Mr. Hume, commenting that the commission's public hearings had not attracted great public interest, said testimony had shown no evidence that the pharmaceutical drug industry was involved in a monopolistic situation.

"It's popular to say drugs cost too much," he said. "The witnesses seemed more concerned with prices than monopolistic practices."

Man-to-Moon Soon—Gagarin

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Soviet space man Maj. Yuri Gagarin Wednesday predicted "we will not have to wait long" for the first manned flight to the moon.

Speaking at a press conference shortly after he and his wife arrived here for an eight-day visit, the first man to orbit the earth said:

"We are confidently looking forward and thinking about future cosmic flights and the real conquest of outer space."

For himself, Gagarin said he would like to make a trip to Venus.

BUGGY BUSINESS

Baby-buggy racing has finally come to Victoria. An "International" contest will be held tonight at 8 in the Town and Country shopping centre, Douglas Street, Rob McAdams (at left) and Mal Potts, owners of local radio station KITN will meet two radio men from Port Angeles. Race is reliably reported to have been fixed by the Victoria pair. (Times photo.)

HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

A nurse who works in a Victoria hospital tells me she regularly writes her resignation to the matron.

"I have to do this to maintain my feeling of independence," she says, "but of course I tear up the letter afterwards. I don't really want to leave — I just like to feel I can tell them to go to hell when I want to."

Many of us, I suspect, feel the same. Yet we know that the boss (or matron) has the same urge to declare his or her independence from some still higher authority.

Our friends at Wells and Barkerville will don fancy costumes next summer to help the B.C. government recreate the Gold Rush days that followed Billy Barker's first strike in 1862.

Prominent will be the Hurdy-Gurdy Girls who came out to the gold camps — 60 miles east of Quesnel — to brighten the lives of the miners.

On a rail trip to Ottawa last summer, 18-year-old Brian Small of 1034 Linden Avenue took no less than 125 photographs which have since been converted into colored slides. Brian was in charge of 33 Vancouver Island scouts who went to the Third Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree in Ottawa. He will show the slides in St. John's Anglican church hall next Monday week (Dec. 11).

The late Sir Thomas Beecham may have been a tyrant to press and public but most musicians loved working with him. Authority for this is Piers Langille, former Toronto Symphony violinist, who was in Victoria this week.

"His rehearsals were happier than any I've attended," said Mr. Langille. "He would start by telling a funny story to get us all relaxed — and the whole rehearsal would be peppered with jokes and cracks."

"He never ridiculed any one member of the orchestra, but would make fun of a particular section that did not fall into line."

This is borne out by Sir Thomas' oft-quoted remark: "I wish the cellos would keep in touch with me now and then."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A minor earthquake in the Seattle area at 12.13 a.m. today was recorded by Dominion Astrophysical Observatory seismographs but did nothing to disturb the sleep of Victorians.

The shock, estimated at magnitude 3, was tentatively located eight miles west of the University of Washington campus and lasted about a minute. There was no damage.

Two men — one a naval seaman — were found "flaked out" in the hall of a city hotel early this morning, believed suffering from an overdose of drugs.

City police were called to the Thunderbird Hotel, Douglas Street, shortly before 1.30 a.m. and took the men to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

RCMP were notified by city police.

"We are checking into this but it is unlikely any action will be taken," an RCMP spokesman said.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. The British Parliament recently passed an act restricting Commonwealth immigration to the U.K. When does this act become effective? A.L.G.

A. The government bill has not yet been passed in the Commons.

Q. Could you please inform me as to how they change the light globes in some of our local theatres? They seem impossibly high with no place for a ladder, W.D.J.

A. Most theatres have an access route to their overhead lighting fixtures through the attic. Others are able to lower the fixtures into the orchestra seats.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Question and Answer, will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Pat Swain, no fixed address, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment and put on bond of $100 to be of good behavior for one year, after he was convicted in city police court today of causing wilful damage under a total value of $50.

A further charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit an indictable offence was dismissed after the prosecution called no evidence.

Meeting of the Gordon Head Garden Club to be held on Monday at 8 p.m. in the community hall, Tyndall Avenue, will be primarily a social event in keeping with the coming Christmas season. Presentation of annual report and election of next year's officers will take place at the short business meeting. Members will show colored slides.

Credit Granters' Association will hold its annual Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 12, at 6 p.m. in the Tally-Ho Motel.

Carl G. Ball, 510 Atkins, was fined $200 in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday for failing to file a 1960 income tax return. Magistrate A. I. Thomas imposed the minimum fine.

Ann Heglin, 724 Yates Street, pleaded guilty in city police court today to two charges of uttering forged cheques. She was remanded to Dec. 6 for a probation report and sentence. Court was told she presented two forged cheques of $20 each at two downtown businesses Oct. 23. The cheques were signed in the name of her employer.

Lloyd De Wolfe, 1018 Balmoral, was fined $20 or four days in city police court today after he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Court was told De Wolfe, aged 18, was found on Douglas Street with six bottles of beer in his possession.

A fine of $10 was imposed in city police court today on MacBean Truck and Equipment Ltd., 517 Herald, for allowing a person to drive a D licence vehicle without written consent.

Cut-Rate Gas On Bulk Basis Offered Here

Gasoline imported from Bellingham and selling at between two and three cents less than present Victoria prices is expected to be on the market here within a week.

Vancouver area gas station chain operator E. A. Vandekerckhove is completing Vancouver Island's first bulk retail gasoline outlet at Burnside and Alpha and says he will sell the U.S. gasoline at 42 cents a gallon for regular and 47 cents for premium.

Stan Hitchman, president of the Victoria branch of the Automotive Retailers' Association of B.C., said today his group had not had time to study the development, "although we have been expecting it for some time."

He did not, however, believe the bulk sale station would touch off a gasoline "price war" in Victoria. It would have a limited appeal to motorists since neither credit nor service facilities were being offered.

He added that the Victoria situation was not comparable with that in Vancouver where cost of transporting U.S. gasoline was much less than here.

Mr. Hitchman said the association members would be conferring on the matter among themselves and with their suppliers in Vancouver — none of whom have yet commented on the situation here.

Ottawa Scored For Attitude On Tocsin B

No Co-operation Says CD Chief

Lack of federal co-operation in the recent federally-sponsored Tocsin B national survival exercise was scored today by Greater Victoria Civil Defence co-ordinator V. S. Godfrey. He said he wrote to Ottawa Oct. 27 asking for the release of five key personnel from HMC Dockyard — civilian volunteers in the Victoria CD organization — and never received a reply.

As a result only one volunteer from Dockyard (who made his own arrangements) took full part in Tocsin B at the local level, although two others showed up for a short period on their own time.

PAY FORFEIT
"One woman came in for the middle shift and said she had to go back to work next day or forfeit her pay," Commodore Godfrey said.

Tocsin B was set up for the 13th and 14th of November, both working days, covering a 24-hour period from afternoon to afternoon.

It was keyed to a proclamation from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who urged preparedness on the part of Canadians for possible national emergency.

BREAKDOWN
The breakdown within the federal civil service and national defence organizations in releasing personnel has happened before, the co-ordinator said.

On the other hand, support by provincial authorities was excellent, he said. Permission for headquarters volunteers employed by the province to take part in the exercise was granted the day following the request.

About eight of these took part in Tocsin B.

Firebug Investigation Continuing

Case of the Cecilia Road firebug is still under investigation, a spokesman for the provincial fire marshal's office in Vancouver told The Times today.

"Investigators are still making visits to Victoria from time to time but it's all on the q.t. so I can't tell you when they are there," he said.

Residents of Cecilia and Napier Roads and Builders Sash and Door Ltd. have been victims of a number of arson attempts this year.

The city and Builders Sash have put up a joint reward of $700 for information leading to the conviction of the firebug.

The fire marshal's spokesman declined to make any comment regarding progress in the investigations.

The sentence will be served in the first offenders' unit at Oakalla prison farm.

All-Time Record Set In Building Permits

$10 Million Total Passed by City

Three hospital building projects during November helped the city reach an all-time high of more than $10,100,000 scheduled construction projects with one month still to go before year's end.

City planner Roderick Clack today said building permit figures being compiled will show that total dollar value issued so far is between $10,100,000 and $10,200,000.

"That's a record and we still have December to go — although there are no large projects in sight for next month yet."

MONTHLY RECORD

"We also set a monthly record during November — as far as our books show — coming up from $6,729,365 at the end of October."

"Close to $3,000,000 of the month's permits were accounted for by three hospital projects."

The $2,614,000 permit for Royal Jubilee Hospital's new wing; $50,000 for boiler plant expansion at St. Joseph's Hospital; and $150,000 for construction of Glen Warren private hospital on Balmoral Street.

Seasonal Winds Drop Yule Trees

Victoria's newly installed Christmas trees on downtown streets appeared to be the only casualties of an early-morning windstorm today.

A steady, 30-mile-an-hour wind started about midnight accompanied by a light rain and blew up to an average of 50 between 5 and 6 a.m. with gusts nearing 60.

Police in Victoria and outlying municipalities said no reports of damage had been received from business firms or households.

WEST COAST

Worst hit by the system was Vancouver Island's west coast where a thunderstorm cut off power in Tofino and Long Beach for short periods late Wednesday.

Oliver Sherdahl of Tofino was reported hit by a lightning bolt and thrown 30 feet as he was entering his house trailer but landed unhurt.

Weatherman William Mackie said today and Friday will be cloudy in the Victoria area with partial clearing and a few showers.

Temperatures should range from the high 30s tonight to the high 40s Friday.

WORKERS WORRIED

City to Plug Loopholes On Bus Sale

B.C. Electric bus drivers and City Hall officials are anxiously watching moves by Brig-Gen. Timothy Manning of West Vancouver in negotiations for the Victoria transit system.

A bus drivers' union official Wednesday said morale was very low because the men "don't know from day to day where they stand and the old-timers understandably are worried about job security."

Union secretary Joseph Belton, pointing out the heavy annual operating loss, asked:

"Why would a man want to come in and take over such a money-losing proposition unless he's got something up his sleeve?"

"Anyone could buy the BCE transit system for a token down payment. Final payments may never be made."

REVENUE CREAM

"Some operators could take the cream of the revenue for a short period and then leave the broken down equipment for the city or government to pick up."

City Hall officials are thinking along the same lines — and have moved to plug any such possible loopholes through which Victoria might get hooked into taking over the buses.

USE CLAUSE

The city, and surrounding municipalities, are prepared to use a clause in their franchise agreement with BCE to veto any sale to a private concern — unless the government guarantees that the transit system will be operated until the 1967 expiry of the franchise.

Gen. Manning, an American living in the lower mainland, was agent for a syndicate which negotiated for purchase of all B.C. Electric bus operations several years ago but the deal fell through.

City Hall officials have learned that he has bought — and sold — several transit systems in the United States and they want to be assured that if he buys the Victoria operation he won't drop it into their laps.

WAITING for a lift to Salt Spring Island, where he'll be canine companion to lonely resident of Cusheon Road is this lively little guest of the SPCA shelter here. He was chosen by SPCA to answer appeal from H. G. Buchanan, who wrote that he lived alone without friends or relatives in a place ideal for dogs. Usual "adoption" fee was forgotten in this case; now all that's needed is someone who'll deliver dog to new boss. (Times photo.)

Seven Named To Study Industry Plans

Mayor Percy Scurrell today announced seven appointments to a newly-created industrial commission which the city hopes will expand local payrolls.

"We want more light industry to come here but it never will unless we try to interest it in this area," said the mayor. "Creation of this commission is the necessary first step toward such an effort."

The appointments were made on recommendation of various business and labor organizations, who nominated representatives.

MEMBERS

Committee members, and their sponsors, are:

Ald. Michael Griffin, council appointee; George Farmer, Victoria Builders' Exchange; I. C. Dinning, Victoria cheque clearing house; K. J. Davis, Real Estate Board; J. A. Driscoll, Victoria Labor Council; Fred Martin, Hotel and Motel Association; John Wallace, Chamber of Commerce.

One more appointment will be made when the Junior Chamber of Commerce makes a nomination.

Formal terms of reference will be prepared soon for the commission.

INFORMATION

"But the first thing they will have to do is gather all the mass of information — such as potential sites, taxes, availability of labor, weather, community amenities — which would be pertinent for a business considering making a move to a new area," said the mayor.

"After that, the commission will have to explore the types of industry that might be induced to consider location in this area. Generally speaking, we hope to attract light industry producing high value-low bulk products — such as electronic equipment — which would not be deterred by transportation costs."

Farmers Warned to Co-Operate To Prevent Economic Setbacks

Farmers were warned today they face serious economic setbacks unless they work collectively for prosperity.

The warning was sounded by H. D. Arnold of Duncan, retiring president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

He was speaking at the opening session of the federation's annual convention at the Empress Hotel, attended by more than 100 farm delegates.

Mr. Arnold expressed disappointment that farmers in the past year have made little headway in organizing themselves into co-operatives and establishing marketing boards for the control and distribution of produce.

RESOLUTION ENDORSED

The federation at its 1960 convention unanimously endorsed a resolution favoring the formation of co-operatives and the extension of orderly marketing.

"During the last year, I have seen all too little evidence of the necessary determination among farm people as a whole, to work collectively for their own prosperity," said Mr. Arnold. "Except in the case of one or two well-organized branches, agriculture is on the defensive."

GOING TO WORK

He urged growers to take the offensive through increased use of co-operatives and marketing boards.

"This involves going to work and seeing that increased use comes about," he said. "Action and initiative at the local level is essential, and nothing else can take its place."

The convention also heard a report from Charles Walls, manager of the federation.

He spoke on the progress made by the various branches of the agricultural industry in the past year.

eration of Agriculture. Looking on (centre) is Ted Thomson, Alberni, president, Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association. Nearly 100 delegates are attending. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

SHOPPING GUIDE

This Duck Forsakes Pond For Place in 'His' Bedroom

By PENNY SAVER

Dear Sirs:
Are you still looking for something for that man who has everything? Follow me... I've seen just the thing... a duck! Not a regular standard type duck, but a duck just the same. What one would normally call feathered wings are grey, brown and white plastic, and the breast is a curved clothes brush, with the brown neck and head serving as a handle.

When not in use the brush rests on the wings and back and lifts out easily when it is to be used. Set on a small triangular base this little quacker is only $5.95.

I get furious sometimes and I imagine you do, too, when you're in a rush and your keys are in the bottom of your handbag. Have never encountered anything quite so frustrating as trying to dig them out in a hurry.

I'm sure they were thinking of us when they made these new key clips that fasten on the pocket of your handbag. Talk about convenience—and only 75 cents.

You know how meticulous Aunt Sal is about everything. Well, I've found a gift that will really please her. Purse kits that are little purses styled after change purses. They've got gold colored metal fasteners and come in sets of two. One is about five inches and the other three inches. Made of brocades, satins and several other rich fabrics, they can be purchased in almost any color for $1.95. Don't you agree that she'd love them?

We're really beginning to feel the pressure of holiday preparations now... but do take time out and give me a call. Penny, EV 2-3131.

THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes

"I appreciate the fact that you're willing to meet me halfway, but I think you're kind of a poor judge of distance."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Be a Good Sport— You're Liable to Lose Weight

We are supposed to be living in a sports-minded age. Therefore, I was amused by a letter I received from a reader the other day.

It says: "I was glancing through a magazine today and noted scores and scores of eating places listed."

"No wonder overweight is one of today's problems. Not only do we eat a lot, but we are also the 'sittingest' people in the world. Confidentially, we sink into an arm chair as often as we can—the girls with a gasp of relief from the crippling torment of dagger-toed pumps."

"The funny part is that sports clothes are rife all over, but it is surprising how little sport, comparatively, is being done by those wearing these sport clothes. One day of skating a year, a nibble at tennis, a country walk now and then—we simply do not romp much or dance much. We sit and admire the furniture and the dashboard day after day."

"The fat gathers all over our frames so we combat this by going, by the thousands, to stadiums—not to play, but simply to cheer our favorites and the fat continues to accumulate until our sports clothes, jeans, etc., no longer fit. Poor Mama Nature, she intended us to swing through trees all our lives, stretch one vertebra from the other, and we slump in overstuffed chairs until we become overstuffed ourselves. Also, the supermarkets are filled with housewives who've gained many ounces because they drove the car the few blocks to the store."

"I hope you will print what I write, or some of it. The usual exercises may be all right, but they are done indoors and cannot replace a whirl on the courts, a whiz down the ski slopes, a dive off the high board, or an evening of dancing."

With the emphasis the medical profession has been placing on exercises, it seems essential that we all work it into our daily lives. Also, it adds special pleasure, as well as health, to life if we take some sport down through the years.

Why not have fun with groups in your own home trying folk dances? If you would like to have my leaflet, "Put Your Little Foot," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 29 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Hawaiian Honeymoon for Couple Wed Recently in Sidney Church

Now honeymooning in Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Noel William Dodwell will make their home in Saanichton. They were married at Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay, with Rev. Gordon Walker, a close family friend, officiating.

Yellow and gold chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion and organist was Mrs. J. Copithorne.

The bride, former Eunice Marie McKay, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McKay of Sidney. Groom is the son of Mrs. M. Dodwell, Sydney, Australia.

Given in marriage by her father, the dark-haired bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza fashioned with basque bodice and full hooped skirt that swept back to a chapel train. Seed pearls and sequins enhanced the scoop neckline and sleeves were in bracelet length. Lace embroidery highlighted the skirt. Full length veil of silk illusion tulle misted from a dainty crown of seed pearls, highlighted with drop pearls in front. She carried a bouquet of white roses and her only jewelry was drop pearl earrings.

Mrs. William Mattison was matron of honor for her sister. She chose a gown in antique gold delustrated silk satin with matching open-crowned hat and tiny veil. Mrs. K. Thorne, Jr., brides-matron, wore an identical ensemble in emerald green shade. Both carried chrysanthemums in gold tones.

William McKay was best man and 'ushers were the bride's brother, Donald McKay, and her uncle, Ronald King. Comox. Alvin Clayton proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Royal Canadian Legion Hall at Sidney.

Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the tables. Master of ceremonies was Vince Butler, whose orchestra played music for dancing. Many telegrams, including some from family and friends of the groom in Australia and Wilmington, Delaware, were read.

As her going-away ensemble the new bride chose a wool tweed suit in crushed strawberry shade, matching draped hat, brown accessories and golden beige orchid.

Another inducement is free air passage to New Zealand for up to 50 New Zealand primary school teachers now in England, on condition that they serve two years where directed and one additional year in a place of their own choice. These teachers must have performed minimum teaching obligations before leaving New Zealand.

Education Minister William Tennant has announced that for married women teachers every three years, spent bringing up a family will be regarded as equivalent to one normal salary increase up to four increases.

Experience with growing children is of great value to a teacher, and I hope many married women will be induced to come back to teaching," Tennant says.

A Woman Of Strong Convictions

By PAT DUFOUR

If you have any doubts as to how Canada grew up practically overnight I'd recommend an hour or two with Miss Marnie B. Hearn, 1550 Begbie Street. She has the answer when she says: "Our pioneers were strong people, strongest most in their convictions, not afraid to say 'Yes' firmly when they meant it or be contrary when necessary."

"Now we've allowed the so-called attribute of tolerance to endanger our convictions. We stand in danger of becoming a nation of eternal fence-sitters."

This forceful and outspoken woman has patterned her whole life on that belief and, judging by the number of telephone calls that interspersed our brief interview, there are many who admire her convictions.

Hard to pin down on her life's story, she admits to having entered the Regina General Hospital's School of Nursing in 1912 and to taking six months out at the end of her second year owing to a difference of opinion with the matron.

"She later apologized and I returned and graduated in 1916, and immediately signed up to go overseas with our troops."

"COOKS" AGE

Becoming an army nurse wasn't as easy as it sounds. "Nurses were to be 23 years or older and, as I was only 22, I didn't dare produce my birth certificate. I got my father to swear an affidavit that I was of age."

She spent 30 months nursing with the troops in France, only relief being a period when she was convalescing after having been badly scalded. At close of the First World War she was stationed at Canadian hospital base, Taplow, Bucks., England, home of Lord and Lady Astor.

Between wars Miss Hearn was on staff at Deer Lodge, the veterans' hospital in Winnipeg. But as soon as Canada entered the Second World War she was determined to do her bit again—overseas. This time she was too old.

"I was 46—it seems to me that I'm always too young or too old!"

With a little pressure in the right quarters, this not-to-be-daunted woman finally made it and was "absolutely flabbergasted" when I found myself back in hospital at Taplow and assigned to the same room I'd had so many years ago.

TIGHT-LIPPED

Still refusing to give any but the barest details of her overseas service, Miss Hearn did allow that she'd been overseas for another six and a half years and was senior medical sister on Taplow's staff.

The host of smiling photographs of "army types" that cover her walls and coffee tables give quiet confirmation that "Sister Hearn" had many admirers during her years of service.

After the Second World War, she returned to Deer Lodge for two years, where she set up the out-patients department. Finally, after 38 years of nursing, she retired.

Although arthritis makes life a little difficult, Miss Hearn loves driving her own car and sharing the busy lives of her many friends.

She sums up the quality of service instilled in her by her training this way: "I'm positive that, just like an old fire horse, if they took me to the door of a ward in a wheel chair, that habit would make me get up and start all over again."

I have no doubt that she would!

Newlyweds to Live in Port Alberni

After a honeymoon in the United States Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ross Chapman will make their home in Port Alberni. They were married recently in the immaculate Conception Church at Kelowna.

Fr. Anderson officiated and Mrs. Reg Martin sang "Ave Maria." Yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion. Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hoffman of Kelowna and Mrs. Rebecca (Bonnie) Chapman, Port Alberni. Mr. Hoffman gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride, the former Leona Catherine Elizabeth Hoffman, wore a short peau de sole gown styled with a lace panel as front highlight. Seed pearls enhanced the scalloped lace at neckline and sleeves ended in lily points. Skirt was slim in front, sweeping to fullness at back. Seed pearls in leaf design edged the peau de sole cap that held the elbow length tuile veil. Feathered yellow chrysanthemums and a white orchid were in the cascade bouquet.

Royal blue velvet gowns and matching bows, skirted with blue veiling, were chosen by attendants, Miss Rose Malysch, Vernon, and Mrs. Raymond Hoffman, Kelowna. They wore white accessories and carried cascade bouquets of white daisy chrysanthemums.

Edward John Hoffman, Kelowna, was best man, and ushers were Arthur and Raymond Hoffman, both of Kelowna, and Dan Chapman.

Fred Stevens, Kelowna, proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held in St. Theresa Hall. Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higginson and Lynne, and Mr. Arnold Aetherhoff, all of Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. Don McKenzie of Vancouver; Miss Betty Jasinsky, and Mr. Keith Barker, both of Kamloops.

As her going-away ensemble the new Mrs. Chapman chose a green suit with black accessories and white orchid corsage.

Gay Nineties Mansion Setting for Meeting

"The Highlands," 950 Terrace Avenue, a Victoria mansion of the 1890's will be setting on Saturday at 2:45 p.m. for annual meeting and membership reception of the Society for the Preservation and Maintenance of Craigdarroch Castle. This beautiful old home with its stained-glass windows, crystal chandeliers and great baronial entrance hall, was built by Vancouver Island lumberman W. J. Macaulay, and is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Loughheed.

Presiding at the tea table on Saturday will be Mrs. J. Howard Harman, Mrs. D. E. Alcorn, Mrs. T. G. Keir and Mrs. Morgan.

PROJECT
Immediate aim of The Castle Society is the floodlighting of Craigdarroch's towers for next year's centennial celebrations.

The executive includes honorary presidents, Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Randolph Pearkes; president, James K. Nesbitt; first vice-president, James G. P. Audain; second vice-president, Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth C. Drury; treasurer, Peter N. Cotton; Mrs. Edith Luney, Miss Inez Mitchell, Richard B. George, Courtney Rickard.

Excitement Given to Home Life By Paintings and Art Treasures

Paintings and objects of art, chosen with care, will add beauty and pleasure to life in the home. Speaking on "Collecting Paintings and Objects of Art," Dr. John Parnell, Vancouver, stressed their role in his lecture at the Art Gallery, Wednesday evening.

"They add excitement to the business of living—especially if your taste includes a painting capable of creating strong opinions, both for and against."

Dr. Parnell, who started his private collection 20 years ago, is presently on the exhibition purchasing committee of the Vancouver Art Gallery.

"Collectors," said the speaker, "fall into three categories. There are those that want to collect beautiful things for their home, those who like acquisitions that bear names of famous artists and others who build up a collection for prestige purposes."

"The latter quite often employ others to collect their pieces and seldom experience the thrill of choosing their own. This sort of collector is often dubbed 'status buyer'."

LOOK FOR QUALITY

To those looking for a "guide stick" as to what to buy, Dr. Parnell's advice was to concentrate on quality rather than on the well-known or the fashionable.

"This way you develop your own particular taste. As an example, at one time I did not like abstract art but I now find increasing pleasure in this field although I must confess I still don't understand it. But I feel it's a good thing to have paintings that manage to leave you still wondering."

He advised new collectors to begin with works of contemporaries and use buying medium of one-man shows in galleries, reputable dealers and artists.

If finances are limited Dr. Parnell recommended buying of silk screens and lithographs. "Both can be termed originals and are available at reasonable prices, even when done by world famous artists."

Dr. Parnell showed colored slides of pictures and art pieces.

START EARLY

Showing pictures of paintings that hang in his children's rooms he emphasized, "It's essential that children be exposed to good art from an early age."

Applauding the upsurge of private collectors, he told his audience that "collecting paintings and objects of art on a wide scale also creates a healthy climate for the artist to live in in any country."

He congratulated his audience on "living in an area where there is a wealth of good artists."

Lecture was last in a seven-week series titled, "Arts Enter the Home," expenses of which were partially covered by a Canada Council grant.

Shower of Dimes Planned for May

Members of the Solarium Junior League decided at a recent meeting to again hold their Shower of Dimes next May. In place of a one-night drive, a mail campaign will be conducted. A tag day and placing of umbrellas will be conducted in conjunction with the drive.

Plans were also made for decorating at the Solarium on Dec. 17.

Many Things Contribute to Tarnish; Some Pieces Need Extra Polishing

TORONTO (CP)—Pine trees, wet plaster walls and carbon monoxide fumes from an underground garage are just three of the dozens of factors that can contribute to tarnish on silverware.

Atmospheric conditions, which vary from neighborhood to neighborhood, also vary from home to home, and even room to room, George Carter explains. That's why some women have to polish their silver more frequently than others. Some pieces may need more frequent attention too.

Mr. Carter talks about silver affectionately. It's an affection that grew from buying and selling silver for 37 years. Recently he retired as the head of the silver department at a large firm in Toronto but is back on the job as a consultant.

Looking over showcases of antique silver during an interview, he pointed out the workmanship of the pieces.

"This piece was hand done," he explained as he flipped over a patterned silver tray. "You can tell because the work has been hammered through to the opposite side."

SILVERPLATE VARIES

Although the base of silver-plated objects may vary, the finish on a mediocre base can be quite good. If polishing is done by hand with wire brushes, a patina finish is obtained. This gives a dulled appearance which when closely scrutinized reveals hundreds of tiny scratches. This is a Sheffield or butter finish, Mr. Carter explained.

Design contributes to the value of silver. How well the work is executed, how much silver is on it and whether the silver is well balanced are all factors in its value.

When purchasing flatware, be sure to handle the pieces for comfort. The pattern should be chosen to match the type of home and entertaining the person expects to do. Although there are many modernistic patterns, the traditional patterns are still the best sellers, Mr. Carter said. In a recent survey of 180 patterns, the top 10 were all traditional.

PLACE SETTINGS

Instead of buying six or eight teaspoons at a time, Mr. Carter advises buying flatware by the setting. "Then when a woman has two place settings she can at least use them for herself and her husband."

Silver is enhanced by use, Mr. Carter says, and benefits by frequent washing—but never in a dishwashing machine. When the knives of flatware are to be washed, do not immerse beyond the blade. Boiling hot water sometimes melts the cement where the blade meets the handle.

Sterling silver is likely to scratch less because it contains a hard copper alloy. "You can only plate with pure silver and it is soft."

Silver plate usually lasts from 20 to 25 years. If the item is good it is worth replacing but it is sometimes just as reasonable to replace a less expensive item.

Doesn't she look like a snug little angel? Indeed she is because she's filled with delicious unbaked cookies made of dried fruit, bite-size shredded rice biscuits and instant vanilla pudding.

These Angel Mysteries Make Delightful Gifts

Did you know that angels had mysteries? They do. These cookies were named that because they taste like what angels should eat and if they didn't know, even those heavenly creatures would never guess the ingredients.

Angel Mysteries are unbaked cookies made of dried fruits, nuts, coconut, bite-size shredded rice biscuits and instant vanilla pudding. When these ingredients are ground together and formed into small balls, they are rolled in icing sugar to give them that snowy angelic appearance.

These "Mysteries" really taste better after they have been stored and the flavors allowed to blend.

Put them in cake tins and keep them at least a day. They're delightful if held a week or two. At the end of this time, they may have absorbed the sugar but don't worry. Your angels haven't fallen. Just roll them in more icing sugar and they'll be as snowy as ever. Since there is no baking involved, this is a recipe that the youngsters will enjoy making as well as eating.

For an attractive gift, top a tall cylindrical apothecary jar with a small styrofoam ball upon which you have put yellow yarn hair and paper eyes, noses and mouth. Tape aluminum foil wings and a halo on the back.

They're mysteries, all right, these angels but so delightful, you won't want to be without them.

ANGEL MYSTERIES

Three quarter cup pitted dates, ¼ cup seedless raisins, ¼ cup dried apricots, ¼ cup broken nuts, 3 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits, 1 can (3½-oz.) flake coconut, 1 package instant vanilla pudding, ½ cup light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ cup icing sugar.

Put fruits, nuts and cereal through food grinder. Alternate them for thorough mixing. Mix in coconut. Add pudding mix to corn syrup and lemon juice. Stir until well blended. Pour over fruit mixture. Mix lightly. Shape into 1-inch balls. Let stand one hour. Roll in icing sugar. Store in tightly covered container. Yield: 4½ dozen 1-inch balls. Note: These are better the second day.

Put them in cake tins and keep them at least a day. They're delightful if held a week or two. At the end of this time, they may have absorbed the sugar but don't worry. Your angels haven't fallen. Just roll them in more icing sugar and they'll be as snowy as ever. Since there is no baking involved, this is a recipe that the youngsters will enjoy making as well as eating.

HEAR VOWS

Several guests from Victoria attended the wedding of Miss Eunice McKay and Mr. Noel Dodwell in Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay. They included Mr. and Mrs. W. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. H. Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. P. Mattison, Mr. and Mrs. William Mattison, Mr. and Mrs. D. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. W. MacKay, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jarvie, Miss M. Windbank and Mr. R. McGowan. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Stringer and Mrs. J. Brockmish, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. R. King of Comox.

YOU CAN INCREASE SIZE OF SLEEVE

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: I sent for your sleeve booklet and have never had such good luck with sleeves before. I was disappointed that you didn't tell us how to make the sleeve larger. All set in sleeves seem to draw across the cap of the sleeve for me and are uncomfortable. Would it be possible to help me with this problem?"

Mrs. R.T.J.
Dear Mrs. R.T.J.: The techniques for setting in could be many of this nature they were not covered in this booklet. However, this seems to be a problem that affects many women according to the letters I receive and it is actually not too difficult to remedy.

Fold your pattern across the cap of the sleeve, as illustrated. Mark a new outline for the cap of the sleeve as shown by broken lines. The cap of the sleeve will be wider and allow more room for a larger upper arm. If this is still not enough ease, it may be necessary to add to the underarm seams also. In this case, be sure to add the same amount to the underarm of your bodice also.

Institute Work in Far North

OTTAWA (CP)—Women's institutes are noted for the wide scope of their activities but few can claim to promote the sale of moose hide cushions, repair the leaky roof of the town meeting place or sponsor a sourdough shindig.

These are some of the more unusual activities reported by the five women's institutes in the Canadian North.

Founded a year ago with the co-operation of the department of northern affairs, four WIs in the Mackenzie district of the Northwest Territories are busy sponsoring social and educational projects.

The fifth northern WI, organized five years ago in Haines Junction, Yukon, has successfully campaigned for a school, community hall and library and sponsored bonspiels.

Success of the northern WIs, including two inside the Arctic Circle, is related in Citizen, a publication of the citizenship department.

The magazine says the women's groups have done much to stimulate community life in the isolated northern settlements and to improve relations between whites and Indians and Eskimos.

WI AT INUVIK
Newest WI in the north, and also the most northerly of the 4,000 institutes in Canada, operates at Inuvik, N.W.T., the government's new administrative centre in the Mackenzie River delta near the Arctic coast.

Other northern institutes are in Fort McPherson, south of Aklavik and inside the Arctic Circle, and Discovery and Fort Providence, both in the Great Slave Lake area. Institutes have organized handicraft projects, hobby and fashion shows, health lectures and recreational programs.

The Fort Providence WI opened a clubhouse in a vacant log cabin with a leaky roof after raising money for the renovations. The group also started a library with books from institutes in the provinces.

Considerable attention is being given to the production and sale of handicrafts, ranging from beaded moccasins to quilt belts. The institutes found that the women of the north have a common interest in handicrafts which serves as a starting point for getting a mixed group working together.

DEAR ABBY ...

Count Your Change, Bub!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently a married couple and I (a single man) decided to join together and buy a wedding gift for a mutual friend. When it came time for sharing the cost of the gift, we had a difference of opinion as to what the fair share for each of us should be.

My idea was to count the heads and divide the total charge by three. The couple's idea was that, since they were a married couple, they should be considered "one". In other words, they — the married couple — should pay half and I, the single man, should pay half. Who, in your opinion, was correct?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who sends his wife a birthday card which reads, "To My Sweetheart on His Birthday"—and on the inside it says, "Happy Birthday, Fella!"? I was never so hurt to think that my husband didn't care enough about me to read the card before he sent it. What should I do?

VERY, VERY HURT.

DEAR HURT: Come on, now — your husband might have been in a hurry when he bought the card, but he DID think of you. If you can't bring yourself to kid him about his boo boo good-naturedly, forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I could write a book about what a disappointment my marriage has been. We are so incompatible I couldn't begin to list our differences. We have been married almost three years. I am 21 and my husband is 22, and we have two babies already, which is the only reason I am sticking with him.

Abby, I don't deserve any sympathy because my parents practically got down on their hands and knees and begged me to wait before marrying this boy, but I was "in love," and nobody could tell me anything. I'll stay married because of my children, but it isn't going to be easy with a gambling, lying, abusive husband. Pass on my hard-earned experience to other girls under 21. Listen to your parents. They love you more than a 19-year-old boy who has nothing to offer but promises.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Marlyce Parsons, age 12, of Des Moines, Iowa, for her question:

What is a guanaco?

The story of the guanaco goes back into the dim past before the Ice Ages. The dinosaurs had long since gone from the scene and the climate of North America was warm and balmy. The mammals had taken over the world. The ancestors of the horse and the camel grazed and browsed among the fresh greenery and roamed in great herds over the plains.

The horse and the camel families got their start in North America. The fossil bones of their ancestors have been found in abundance and their story has been pieced together bit by bit. We do not know how, but some of the horses reached Asia and Europe and some of the camels got as far as Africa. We do not know what happened to those who remained at home, but there were no horses or camels in North America when the Spanish arrived.

Fur-Bearing Beast of Burden

The guanaco stands about three and a half feet tall at shoulder level. He is used as a beast of burden, but is far more valuable as a fur-bearing animal. His woolly coat is pale golden brown and soft as silk. The wool may be sheared and woven into cloth. The pelt may be used to make fur coats and trimmings. This does not end the valuable little fellow's usefulness, for Indian tribes of the Andes consider guanaco meat a great delicacy.

Herds of guanaco are carefully nurtured on large farms, for the valuable animals do not multiply at a great rate. Mrs. Guanaco has no more than one baby each year. Though Junior is an only child, he is far from spoiled. For six weeks, the little fellow is fed on mother's milk and at the age of three months he must make his own way in the world.

Not so long ago, guanacos were wild creatures and some

TEEN-AGE CANADA

Study Gimmicks Help Poor Memory

By JACK HUTTON

How good is your memory? Try memorizing the following 20 nonsense syllables for the next minute and we'll find out. CAG, LUZ, ROV, BEX, PAZ, YEM, ZOY, KAB, BUW, MLB, VOC, CEM, RAL, NIT, NOK, YEB, CUW, DER, YIB, ZAR.

Not too easy is it? If you've got an average memory — or even a better than average memory — you remembered very few of them.

Now try memorizing this sentence for one minute. Close the newspaper when you've finished and see if you do any better.

John Charles, who talked with his teacher today, said he plans to attend a medical school to learn surgery.

What does this prove? You found it much easier to memorize material which had some meaning. This is the first and possibly most important rule to use in memorizing.

Thousands of teen-agers across Canada — both in school and out — find themselves mentally crippled by a poor memory. What all of them overlook is the fact that a few simple tricks can do wonders.

Stormclouds

Since Christmas exams are hanging like stormclouds over some of your heads, it might not be a bad idea at the moment to spark your learning with a few of these aids.

1. Avoid study periods which are too long. For instance, try routine memorizing — language vocabulary and so on — for no longer than 15 to 30 minutes. Then switch to something else.

2. Try writing down what you want to remember. If nothing else, this frees your mind to think about other things. Extremely simple, but few people use it.

3. Have you tried a pack of 100 three-by-five-inch cards? To study French, for instance, fill in 25 cards with a French word on one side and the English translation on the other.

Place them in a pile with French words showing. Try to remember the English translations and place those you can't remember in a separate pile. Eventually the "I don't know" pile gets smaller.

4. A great number of psychologists suggest a READ-RECITE-REVIEW method in which they say no more than 40 per cent of study time should be spent reading. I'd leave it to you to work out your balance.

Finally, accept the fact right now that you are going to forget a great deal of what you study — unless you review it soon after. And if you have the time it is wise to study past the point where you can just barely recall something.

Nothing I've mentioned here, of course, is new. Students have been using these gimmicks ever since the early Greeks. But they have also produced results — and could for you.

Teen Allowances

Several weeks ago I asked what you figure is a sensible allowance for the average teen-ager. I must confess the answers are still surprising me.

I'll publish the full answers in a future column, but many of you apparently feel that the teen-age cost-of-living has soared right up through the roof.

As one Winnipeg friend said: "By the time I've just gone to a movie on Saturday night the whole week's allowance is gone. Believe me, this creates problems."

How many others feel the same way? There is still time for you to drop a letter into the mail if you want to record your vote.

Driving Classes

More and more high schools across Canada are deciding that their students want some form of driving instruction.

West Hill High School in Montreal is the latest to offer another course. Teachers figured one course would be enough but have had to start a second for all the disappointed would-be drivers.

The big question now is whether schools can legitimately teach driver-training without cutting something else out of the school day.

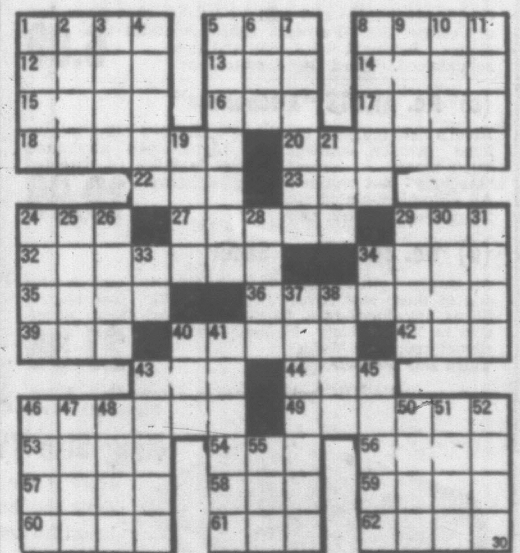

Some say you can't. Some say you can. All of our research indicates that more schools will be in the "can" category before very long.

Recommended Reading — I can't recommend too highly a new book entitled "Teen-Age Treasury of Good Humor," edited by Sean Manly. It includes such writers as Mark Twain, Charles Dickens and James Thurber. A perfect Christmas gift.

Rugby Tour Planned By Japanese Official

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Japanese Rugby Union official has suggested sending a British Columbia high school team to Japan to meet other school teams there.

Shigle Konno, secretary of the Japanese organization, told B.C. Rugby Union officials he has plans for an exchange for teams for the two countries which would include teams in all categories.

'REMARKABLE RECORD' CLAIMS PM

Trade Almost in Balance

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night that Canada this year may export as much as she imports for the first time in nine years.

"We have achieved a remarkable record in reducing the surplus of imports over exports, from $713,000,000 in 1956 under the previous government down to $37,000,000 last year, and this year our trade may be virtually in balance for the first time in nine years," he said in a national television address on the CBC's political series The Nation's Business.

Mr. Diefenbaker also repeated that Prime Minister

Macmillan had pledged to protect Commonwealth interests should Britain enter the European Common Market, adding "and we know that pledge will be fulfilled."

Before seeking entry to ECM, Britain had asked for Canada's views and the Canadian government took a strong stand for maintenance of Commonwealth ties and mutual preferences in each other's markets. Canada had suggested that Britain try to get terms from the ECM membership which would preserve Commonwealth trade preferences.

QUOTES REPORTS

He quoted news reports which said that Britain had informed the ECM it would not join if membership meant loss or ruin to some of its Commonwealth partners. Britain had made it clear that the terms of entry must include special arrangements to insure continued agricultural exports of Canada, New Zealand and Australia.

"That is what we asked them to do. That is what the British government has done."

Mr. Diefenbaker said 76 per cent of Canadian exports to Britain would be affected by Common Market tariffs, including wheat, flour, salmon, butter, cheese, plywood, lumber products, steel bars, aluminum, magnesium, plastics, drugs and chemicals, cotton fabrics, newsprint, book and other papers, marine engines, machinery, aircraft engines and parts.

COMMON MARKET

JFK Wants To Negotiate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Wednesday he wants authority to negotiate with the European Common Market but it is inaccurate to say the United States will join this organization.

Kennedy told his press conference he has made preliminary decisions with regard to trade policy but will not announce conclusions until January.

A reporter noted that Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep. Ariz.) a spokesman for conservatives, has opposed any action by the United States to join the European Common Market or to become associated with it.

Kennedy said it is not proposed that the United States join the European organization or become associated with it in the sense that Goldwater used.

What he wants to do, the president said, is to have negotiating power to protect American industry and to open the Common Market for trade with the United States.

MIGHT CUT AID

"If we can't export more than we import, we are either going to have to cut off aid to countries abroad or we are going to have to abandon bases and withdraw American troops stationed on foreign soil," Kennedy said.

He said maintenance of these bases and men costs $3,000,000,000 yearly and has been made possible only because the U.S. has had a favorable foreign trade balance of around $5,000,000,000 yearly.

Kennedy said he is concerned that American companies might be looked out of the Common Market. If they are, he said, it will mean that they will invest additional funds in Western Europe. This would mean capital would leave the U.S., Kennedy said, and cost American jobs.

Kennedy added that he believes in the free flow of capital and does not want to restrain it. For that reason, he said, there should be negotiating authority broad enough so that American goods can enter the Common Market.

INVALID DIES AFTER AIDING YOUNG BOY

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A 69-year-old semi-invalid rescued a newsboy from the onslaughts of a dog Wednesday. Then, he collapsed and died. Clarence Fisher, who hadn't been able to work since 1945 because of a heart ailment, picked up a stick and ran 50 yards in response to cries from Earl Edward McDanel, 14.

The dog nipped the boy on the hand and shredded his newspaper bag. Then, it turned and chased Fisher back to his house. Fisher collapsed.

Ready to Buy More

TORONTO (CP)—Argentina is willing to buy more from Canada if Canada will grant long-term credit, President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina said Wednesday.

No Commitment Yet Heath Tells Commons

LONDON (CP)—Edward Heath, the lord privy seal, ran into a barrage of questions Wednesday from both sides in the House of Commons over Britain's Common Market policy.

Conservative and Labor members sought assurances from the government that it had not already committed itself to European Common Market membership without adequately safeguarding Commonwealth interests.

Labor member Douglas Jay thought the government was going far beyond what Parliament had authorized it to do.

Jay recalled that Parliament had given Heath the go-ahead to begin negotiations to find out whether satisfactory arrangements could be made with the six Common Market countries to meet the special interests of Britain, the Commonwealth and Britain's partners in the free trade area.

Jay then noted that Heath in his speech Oct. 10 at the opening of the Common Market negotiations in Paris had said, "We have made a great decision which is the turning point of history."

Heath replied, "These words were used by the prime minister when he introduced the debate in which the House gave authority to enter into the negotiations. We have in no way gone beyond the authority given us in August."

Another questioner, Conservative Peter Walker, asked Heath, Britain's top negotiator in the discussions with the six, whether he was going to aim for permanent safeguards for the Commonwealth.

"We have given our undertakings to the Commonwealth," Heath said.

"This is one of the great needs in agricultural policy," Mr. Pearson said a Liberal government would set up a municipal loan fund for working while municipal capital works that don't get done because the municipalities, especially the small rural ones, cannot borrow money on reasonable terms.

Mr. Pearson said Japan can become a greater market for Canadian products, especially farm and other primary products, but not if Canadians do not receive Japanese goods in return.

Mr. Pearson also advocated trade to Communist China, providing it is not in commodities that are on a strategic list.

"While believing this, I think it is hypocritical for a politician to laud the advantages of such trade and then come out categorically against diplomatic recognition of the Peking government 'until they' have expiated their crimes."

He also said it is essential for Canadians to know all the details regarding any trade arrangement with a country like Communist China.

Communist China or any other Communist state would not hesitate to scrap any such arrangement whenever it suited their purpose.

He obviously was referring to Canada's recent agreements to sell Canadian wheat to Communist China on credit terms. The Canadian government does not recognize Communist China diplomatically.

ATLANTIC FREE TRADE COMMUNITY

Pearson Urges Canadian Lead

SASKATOON (CP)—Lester B. Pearson, national Liberal Party leader, says enlarged areas of free trade would improve economic position of Canadian farmers.

Mr. Pearson, speaking at the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union annual convention Wednesday, said:

"Canada should take the initiative in a planned, progressive program of expanding trade in the whole Atlantic community."

Mr. Pearson said that for Canada this would mean expanding trade opportunities in the richest and most dynamic markets of the world.

"It would give a tremendous new impetus to our economy."

"An Atlantic trading community would provide the greatest expansion of all. It would mean bigger markets for our industries and farms, bigger incomes, more jobs, faster national development."

"We can't be content with a slack economy and unemployment and declining farm income—which is the alternative we're suffering now because of the lack of forward-looking policy."

URGES LOAN FUND

Mr. Pearson said the benefits of technical progress in farming and the prosperous family farm can only be obtained if there is improvement to the supply of capital available to farmers who are improving their farms.

"This is one of the great needs in agricultural policy."

Mr. Pearson said a Liberal government would set up a municipal loan fund for working while municipal capital works that don't get done because the municipalities, especially the small rural ones, cannot borrow money on reasonable terms.

Mr. Pearson said Japan can become a greater market for Canadian products, especially farm and other primary products, but not if Canadians do not receive Japanese goods in return.

Udall Making Move To Patch Up Trouble

Dief Hints Power Talks To Resume

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker implied today his government is prepared to resume negotiations with British Columbia on the financing of the Columbia River power development.

He was asked on his way into the morning cabinet meeting, regarding the Columbia River developments in the news, "Where do we go from here. What happens next?" The prime minister replied that the Tuesday night speech given by Justice Minister E. D. Fulton at Prince George had provided the answers to those questions.

LETTER KEPT SECRET

Asked if Finance Minister Donald Fleming would be ready to accept an invitation from Premier W. A. C. Bennett to resume negotiations, Mr. Diefenbaker said with a smile:

"We are pen pals. I mean Mr. Fleming and Mr. Bennett are pen pals."

Finance Minister Fleming declined to discuss a letter he has received from Premier Bennett.

The press in eastern Canada has been playing up the "tough speech" made by Justice Minister Fulton as a bitter attack not only against B.C. but also against the United States. It received headline treatment in most eastern papers.

SPEECH CRITICIZED

The Toronto Globe and Mail (Conservative) commented editorially Thursday on the Fulton speech. It was critical. It pointed out that the statements attributed to U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall were "capable of a more innocuous interpretation than Mr. Fulton put upon them."

It added, "Not only do Mr. Fulton's words inject unnecessary international bitterness into a situation already embittered but they distract attention from the real and vital issues which are at stake in the dispute."

BENNETT TO TELL WHY FULTON 'WENT BERSERK'

By FRANK RUTTER

Premier Bennett will tell Friday why Federal Justice Minister E. D. Fulton "went berserk at Prince George."

The announcement came in a strongly worded memorandum today signed by the premier's executive assistant William C. Budd.

It broke the premier's silence since Mr. Fulton Tuesday night savagely attacked him and U.S. officials for promoting a "squeeze play" to "sell out" the Columbia River power project.

It left the impression that the fur will really fly Friday.

Mr. Bennett will also disclose the contents of a letter mailed Monday to Federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming and which is believed to fully and firmly state B.C.'s position on the Columbia treaty between Canada and the U.S.

This is the memorandum, given to the press gallery this morning:

"The premier will give a press conference Friday morning at 10 o'clock and will give the real reasons why Fulton gave his partisan political tirade and went berserk at Prince George. Also the premier will release his letter to Finance Minister Fleming of last Monday which was received in Ottawa before Fulton's speech."

The comparison of the premier's letter and Fulton's speech will show who has taken a statesmanlike course and also show who is playing politics."

Mr. Fulton in Prince George charged

the premier with "partisanship, gamesmanship" and "one-upmanship."

He invited the premier to "show some statesmanship."

The premier's letter to Mr. Fleming is expected to state B.C.'s terms for financing the Columbia project.

The premier earlier said he wants to sell all the downstream benefits from the Columbia to the U.S. He said this sale at a price of 5 mills would finance the three Canadian Columbia dams.

Mr. Fulton declared Ottawa unalterably opposed to this plan.

What may have upset Premier Bennett about the fierce Fulton attacks on himself and the U.S. is that the letter to Mr. Fleming contains a new proposal on financing—one which might prove attractive to Ottawa.

The premier's last formal financing proposal contained two choices: either Ottawa assist in paying costs to meet a guaranteed delivery price of Columbia power to B.C., or Ottawa take over the entire project.

There has been speculation since the Fulton speech that the takeover is a distinct possibility.

However, there is doubt in B.C. that the move would be either attractive or practical.

Ready To Talk To Fulton

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Stewart Udall may be ready to forgive and forget in the hope of speeding a final decision on the Columbia River power controversy.

The U.S. interior secretary, stung by an attack by Canadian Justice Minister Davis Fulton, is reported willing to meet with Fulton or other Canadian officials in the hope of reconciling cross-border views and speeding Canadian ratification of the treaty.

Udall's latest position became known after he conferred privately with Livingston T. Merchant, U.S. ambassador to Canada, Wednesday afternoon. Merchant then hurried back to Ottawa.

First reports from those close to Udall indicated he would seek an explanation of Fulton's accusations from Canadian Ambassador Arnold Heeney but the Canadian embassy said it had received no request from the interior department for information or consultation.

DENIES TAKING SIDES

Fulton, in his Prince George, B.C. speech, accused Udall of having "side" talks with Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia and having joined a high-geared propaganda campaign to press the Canadian government into approving the sale of Canadian power to the U.S.

Udall has denied that he is taking sides in the dispute between the Canadian and B.C. governments on the question of exporting power. All he wants, he says, is a start on the Columbia River project.

What Canada does with the power it obtains from that project was up to Canadians to decide.

Udall said Wednesday he regretted that Fulton had not read an interview the secretary gave to The Canadian Press last Monday when he made it clear he has no intentions of interfering in the Canadian dispute.

MAKES GOOD SENSE

Fulton, in his Prince George speech, quoted Udall as having expressed confidence the Canadian government will permit the sale of Canadian power to the U.S. This apparently was a reference to a press conference Udall held in Seattle last week. Udall later denied he had made such a statement.

He added Wednesday: "I feel that ultimately the Columbia River treaty will be ratified because it makes good economic and conservation sense. But it has become an emotional issue and there may have to be considerable discussion before agreement can be reached."

HATRED MOUNTING

Tshombe Warned Of Grave Danger

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The United Nations warned President Moise Tshombe today that a wave of violence and atrocities is building up in Katanga as a result of inflammatory anti-UN statements by Tshombe's secessionist regime.

Once the hatred erupts into fighting, the UN said, no one—not even Tshombe—will be able to stop it.

Sture Linner, leader of the UN Congo operation, called on the Katanga president to change his "extremely imprudent" attitude "before it is too late."

Linner's warning came in a letter to be delivered to the Katanga president today. He also protested strongly against the beating of two high UN officials by Katanga paratroopers in Elisabethville Tuesday.

Meanwhile, in Elisabethville, Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo today deplored the "lack of discipline" in the slaying of a United Nations driver whose body was found Wednesday wrapped in a Katanga army sheet.

The dead man was a driver for an Indian Gurkha major who has been missing since Tuesday night.

EXPLAINS VOTE

Canadian delegate E. L. M. Burns, in explaining his country's vote, said that the proposed inquiry would serve a useful purpose but Canada still maintains that the control of nuclear weapons can be achieved only through binding agreements on all states.

The United States, Britain and France opposed the measure on the ground that it put the cart before the horse on the question of disarmament.

No Oil Import Cuts Planned

WASHINGTON (CP)—A spokesman for Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said today Udall does not plan to make any recommendation to restrict imports of Canadian oil through the mandatory control system.

CHILDREN OF INDIA

Young and Old Heed Call

As the Times Children of India Fund progresses it is apparent that the call for help is reaching nearly all ages and groups in Victoria.

Kind friends have donated large sums to the fund but equally appreciated by "skin and bone" youngsters in India are the small gifts from those who have little to give.

"A small addition to your fund," wrote an old age pensioner, "and may the Lord bless your efforts."

"From a little boy (five), who knows the children need this far more than he will for Christmas," read another heart-warming note containing $1.

Many donations are received from parents in the names of their children.

"When I compare my kiddies to those Indian children," said an anonymous father, "I am only sorry I can't give more."

The Unitarian Services Committee, on whose behalf the Times is conducting this campaign, was founded in 1945 by current executive director Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova. It is completely non-denominational and is recognized by the Canadian government as a voluntary organization.

Donations of clothing can be sent or taken to 1117 Wharf Street.

Another Island Copper Prospect

Times Business Editor

Another lower Vancouver Island copper prospect—eight miles south of Cowichan Lake on Robertson River—is under active exploration by Silver Standard Mines Ltd.

The property, 26 claims opened from the Robertson River, is also predicting a 60 per cent increase in earnings next year with further increase in 1963 due to export of gas to California and the accelerated exploration program which the company has started.

Under the agreement, Silver Standard will supply $100,000 for a trenching and diamond drilling program, and if this is satisfactory will purchase shares in the company to the amount of $50,000 and supply a loan of $100,000 repayable from production.

Eventually, under the agreement, Silver Standard could obtain control of the property. H. B. Gilleland, Silver Standard's main manager, said that two factors—good hauling roads and availability of customers—are milling at Britannia—made the proposition very attractive.

Western Silica Products Ltd., which holds large deposits of high-grade silica at Britannia and at Longworth, east of Prince George, has announced it is planning financing to place its properties in operation.

A new board of directors, headed by Harry Hartley of Vancouver as president, has been elected to reactivate the company. The group feels, Mr. Hartley said, that there is tremendous industrial potential for silica in B.C. and that it could be the foundation for a lucrative glass manufacturing industry. As well as in glass, silica is used for industrial ceramics, building blocks, ferro-alloys and

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg Grain Exchange was irregular in moderate trading today.

Flax prices were easier in the wake of a private report estimating Argentine production of this commodity at higher amounts than expected.

Parcel lots of flax were reported sold to Japan and the continent as overseas buying came in on the decline.

The oats and barley markets had some price hesitation and support was mostly domestic.

The rye market showed weakness in early trade and had a general lack of aggressive commercial support.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged from Wednesday.

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market was under moderate but fairly constant selling pressure most of the time today as first notices of intention to deliver on December contracts in the pit came out in larger volume than expected.

Delivery tenders in wheat amounted to 710,000 bushels. The largest volume tendered was more than 3,500,000 bushels in the oats pit.

A late rally boosted nearly all contracts well into the plus side of previous closes, with wheat the only lagger.

Haircutting by razor

Surely an almost lost art but with definite merits in certain cases. Be sure to make an appointment with one of our barbers... They are thoroughly trained also in this detail.

Next time you ask for 'rye', say 'Rock Mount'. Mature and full-flavoured, the way real rye whisky should taste.

BUGGY BUSINESS

Baby-buggy racing has finally come to Victoria. An "International" contest will be held tonight at 8 in the Town and Country shopping centre, Douglas Street, Rob McAdams (at left) and Mal Potts, owners of local radio station KINT will meet two radio men from Port Angeles. Race is reliably reported to have been fixed by the Victoria pair. (Times photo.)

HERE AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS.

A nurse who works in a Victoria hospital tells me she regularly writes her resignation to the matron.

"I have to do this to maintain my feeling of independence," she says, "but of course I tear up the letter afterwards. I don't really want to leave—I just like to feel I can tell them to go to hell when I want to."

Many of us, I suspect, feel the same. Yet we know that the boss (or matron) has the same urge to declare his or her independence from some still higher authority.

Our friends at Wells and Barkerville will don fancy costumes next summer to help the B.C. government recreate the Gold Rush days that followed Billy Barker's first strike in 1862.

Prominent will be the Hurdy-Gurdy Girls who came out to the gold camps—60 miles east of Quesnel—to brighten the lives of the miners.

On a rail trip to Ottawa last summer, 18-year-old Brian Small of 1034 Linden Avenue took no less than 125 photographs which have since been converted into colored slides. Brian was in charge of 33 Vancouver Island scouts who went to the Third Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree in Ottawa.

He will show the slides in St. John's Anglican church hall next Monday week (Dec. 11).

The late Sir Thomas Beecham may have been a tyrant to press and public but most musicians loved working with him.

Authority for this is Piers Langlie, former Toronto Symphony violinist, who was in Victoria this week.

"His rehearsals were happier than any I've attended," said Mr. Langlie. "He would start by telling a funny story to get us all relaxed—and the whole rehearsal would be peppered with jokes and cracks."

"He never ridiculed any one member of the orchestra, but would make fun of a particular section that did not fall into line."

This is borne out by Sir Thomas' oft-quoted remark: "I wish the cellos would keep in touch with me now and then."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A minor earthquake in the Seattle area at 12:13 a.m. today was recorded by Dominion Astrophysical Observatory seismographs but did nothing to disturb the sleep of Victorians.

The shock, estimated at magnitude 3, was tentatively located eight miles west of the University of Washington campus and lasted about a minute. There was no damage.

Two men—one a naval seaman—were found "flaked out" in the hall of a city hotel early this morning, believed suffering from an overdose of drugs.

City police were called to the Thunderbird Hotel, Douglas Street, shortly before 1:30 a.m. and took the men to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

RCMP were notified by city police.

"We are checking into this but it is unlikely any action will be taken," an RCMP spokesman said.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. The British Parliament recently passed an act restricting Commonwealth immigration to the U.K. When does this act become effective? A.L.G.

A. The government bill has not yet been passed in the Commons.

Q. Could you please inform me as to how they change the light globes in some of our local theatres? They seem impossibly high with no place for a ladder. W.D.J.

A. Most theatres have an access route to their overhead lighting fixtures through the attic. Others are able to lower the fixtures into the orchestra seats.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put value on old coins, stamps or securities. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Pat Swain, no-fixed address, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment and put on bond of $100 to be of good behavior for one year, after he was convicted in city police court today of causing wilful damage under a total value of $50.

A further charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit an indictable offence was dismissed after the prosecution called no evidence.

Meeting of the Gordon Head Garden Club to be held on Monday at 8 p.m. in the community hall, Tyndall Avenue, will be primarily a social event in keeping with the coming Christmas season. Presentation of annual report and election of next year's officers will take place at the short business meeting. Members will show colored slides.

Credit Granters' Association will hold its annual Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 12, at 6 p.m. in the Tally-Ho Motel.

Carl G. Ball, 510 Atkins, was fined $200 in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday for failing to file a 1960 income tax return. Magistrate A. L. Thomas imposed the minimum fine.

Ann Heglin, 724 Yates Street, pleaded guilty in city police court today to two charges of uttering forged cheques. She was remanded to Dec. 6 for a probation report and sentence.

Court was told she presented two forged cheques of $20 each at two downtown businesses Oct. 23. The cheques were signed in the name of her employer.

Lloyd De Wolfe, 1018 Balmoral, was fined $20 or four days in city police court today after he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Court was told De Wolfe, aged 18, was found on Douglas Street with six bottles of beer in his possession.

A fine of $10 was imposed in city police court today on MacBean Truck and Equipment Ltd., 517 Herald, for allowing a person to drive a D licence vehicle without written consent.

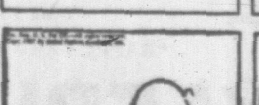

Property owners have increased slightly among Victoria voters, the voters' list showed today. Of the 20,375 names on the 1961 list, 18,691 belong to property owners or 20 more than last year. But resident electors have dropped from 1,538 to 1,321 this year, and tenants fell from 232 to 220.

Victoria organist Reginald Stone will give a recital of Christmas and classical music in Knox Presbyterian Church, Richmond at Lansdowne, Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. Proceeds will go to the building fund of the new Knox Church.

Winners of a tournament conducted by the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club were: 1st, Doug Hawkes and Will Brown-Cave; 2nd, Ricki Nichols and Tony Marsh; 3rd, Sam Duprau and Les Stewart; 4th, Eric Ware and Larry McMillan; 5th, Ethel Cleworth and Elizabeth Warren.

Winners in the second section of the tournament were Otto Leesment and Harry Brawn, followed by Jim Duprau and Bill Simpson-Balkie.

Hilda Price and Liliane Le-Bout finished third and Peggy Hughes and Arthur Williams were fourth. Joe Lukas and Frank Annis ended up fifth.

Ottawa Scored For Attitude On Tocsin B

No Co-operation Says CD Chief

Lack of federal co-operation in the recent federally-sponsored Tocsin B national survival exercise was scored today by Greater Victoria Civil Defence co-ordinator V. S. Godfrey. He said he wrote to Ottawa Oct. 27 asking for the release of five key personnel from HMC Dockyard—civilian volunteers in the Victoria CD organization—and never received a reply.

As a result only one volunteer from Dockyard (who made his own arrangements) took full part in Tocsin B at the local level, although two others showed up for a short period on their own time.

PAY FORFEIT

"One woman came in for the middle shift and said she had to go back to work next day or forfeit her pay," Commodore Godfrey said.

Tocsin B was set up for the 13th and 14th of November, both working days, covering a 24-hour period from afternoon to afternoon.

It was keyed to a proclamation from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who urged preparedness on the part of Canadians for possible national emergency.

BREAKDOWN

The breakdown within the federal civil service and national defence organizations in releasing personnel has happened before, the co-ordinator said.

On the other hand, support by provincial authorities was excellent, he said. Permission for headquarters volunteers employed by the province to take part in the exercise was granted the day following the request.

About eight of these took part in Tocsin B.

Firebug Investigation Continuing

Case of the Cecilia Road firebug is still under investigation, a spokesman for the provincial fire marshal's office in Vancouver told The Times today.

Investigators are still making visits to Victoria, from time to time but it's all on the Q.T. so I can't tell you when they are there," he said.

Residents of Cecilia and Napier Roads and Builders Sash and Door Ltd. have been the victims of a number of arson attempts this year.

The city and Builders Sash have put up a joint reward of $700 for information leading to the conviction of the firebug.

The fire marshal's spokesman declined to make any comment regarding progress in the investigations.

Michael Patrick Payne, 454 Fraser, was sentenced in Esquimalt police court today to eight months definite and four months indefinite imprisonment on a charge of theft of a car Oct. 31. He had pleaded guilty.

The sentence will be served in the first offenders' unit at Oakalla prison farm.

All-Time Record Set In Building Permits

$10 Million Total Passed by City

Three hospital building projects during November helped the city reach an all-time high of more than $10,100,000 scheduled construction projects with one month still to go before year's end.

City planner Roderick Clark today said building permit figures being compiled will show that total dollar value issued so far is between $10,100,000 and $10,200,000.

"That's a record and we still have December to go—although there are no large projects in sight for next month yet."

MONTHLY RECORD

"We also set a monthly record during November—as far as our books show—coming up as $6,729,365 at the end of October."

Close to $3,000,000 of the month's permits were accounted for by three hospital projects:

The $2,614,000 permit for Royal Jubilee Hospital's new wing; $50,000 for boiler plant expansion at St. Joseph's Hospital; and $150,000 for construction of Glen Warren private hospital on Balmoral Street.

Seasonal Winds Drop Yule Trees

Victoria's newly installed Christmas trees on downtown streets appeared to be the only casualties of an early-morning windstorm today.

A steady, 30-mile-an-hour wind started about midnight accompanied by a light rain and blew up to an average of 50 between 5 and 6 a.m. with gusts nearing 60.

Police in Victoria and outlying municipalities said no reports of damage had been received from business firms or households.

WEST COAST

Worst hit by the system was Vancouver Island's west coast where a thunderstorm cut off power in Tofino and Long Beach for short periods late Wednesday.

Oliver Sherdahl of Tofino was reported hit by a lightning bolt and thrown 30 feet as he was entering his house trailer but landed unhurt.

Weatherman William Mackie said today and Friday will be cloudy in the Victoria area with partial clearing and a few showers.

Temperatures should range from the high 30s tonight to the high 40s Friday.

WORKERS WORRIED

City to Plug Loopholes On Bus Sale

B.C. Electric bus drivers and City Hall officials are anxiously watching moves by Brig.-Gen. Timothy Manning of West Vancouver in negotiations for the Victoria transit system.

A bus drivers' union official Wednesday said morale was very low because the men "don't know from day to day where they stand and the old-timers understandably are worried about job security."

Union secretary Joseph Belton, pointing out the heavy annual operating loss, asked:

"Why would a man want to come in and take over such a money-losing proposition unless he's got something up his sleeve?"

"Anyone could buy the BCE transit system for a token down payment. Final payments may never be made."

REVENUE CREAM

"Some operators could take the cream of the revenue for a short period and then leave the broken down equipment for the city or government to pick up."

City Hall officials are thinking along the same lines—and have moved to plug any such possible loopholes through which Victoria might get hooked into taking over the buses.

USE CLAUSE

The city, and surrounding municipalities, are prepared to use a clause in their franchise agreement with BCE to veto any sale to a private concern—unless the government guarantees that the transit system will be operated until the 1967 expiry of the franchise.

Gen. Manning, an American living in the lower mainland, was agent for a syndicate which negotiated for purchase of all B.C. Electric bus operations several years ago but the deal fell through.

City Hall officials have learned that he has bought—and sold—several transit systems in the United States and they want to be assured that if he buys the Victoria operation he won't drop it into their laps.

Seven Named To Study Industry Plans

Mayor Percy Scourah today announced seven appointments to a newly-created industrial commission which the city hopes will expand local pay-rolls.

"We want more light industry to come here but it never will unless we try to interest it in this area," said the mayor. "Creation of this commission is the necessary first step toward such an effort."

The appointments were made on recommendation of various business and labor organizations who nominated representatives.

Committee members, and their sponsors, are:

Ald. Michael Griffin, council appointee; George Farmer, Victoria Builders' Exchange; I. C. Dinning, Victoria cheque clearing house; K. J. Davis, Real Estate Board; J. A. Driscoll, Victoria Labor Council; Fred Martin, Hotel and Motel Association; John Wallace, Chamber of Commerce.

One more appointment will be made when the Junior Chamber of Commerce makes a nomination.

Formal terms of reference will be prepared soon for the commission.

"But the first thing they will have to do is gather all the mass of information—such as potential sites, taxes, availability of labor, weather, community amenities—which would be pertinent for a business considering making a move to a new area," said the mayor.

"After that, the commission will have to explore the types of industry that might be induced to consider location in this area. Generally speaking, we hope to attract light industry producing high value-low bulk products—such as electronic equipment—which would not be deterred by transportation costs."

Farmers Warned to Co-Operate To Prevent Economic Setbacks

Farmers were warned today they face serious economic setbacks unless they work collectively for prosperity.

The warning was sounded by H. D. Arnold of Duncan, retiring president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

He was speaking at the opening session of the federation's annual convention at the Empress Hotel, attended by more than 100 farm delegates.

"Mr. Arnold expressed disappointment that farmers in the past year have made little headway in organizing themselves into co-operatives and establishing marketing boards for the control and distribution of produce."

RESOLUTION ENDORSED

The federation at its 1960 convention unanimously endorsed a resolution favoring the formation of co-operatives and the extension of orderly marketing.

"During the last year, I have seen all too little evidence of the necessary determination among farm people as a whole, to work collectively for their own prosperity," said Mr. Arnold. "Except in the case of one or two well-organized branches, agriculture is on the defensive."

GOING TO WORK

He urged growers to take the offensive through increased use of co-operatives and marketing boards.

and seeing that increased use comes about," he said, "Action and initiative at the local level is essential, and nothing else can take its place."

The convention also heard a report from Charles Walls, manager of the federation.

He spoke on the progress made by the various branches of the agricultural industry in the past year.

Tighter Security on Prison Dorms

OTTAWA (CP)—Tighter security on federal prison dormitories has been ordered since last Friday's fatal stabbing of a guard at Kingston, Penitentiaries Commissioner Allan MacLeod said today.

He also told a press conference that he has accepted the principle of a demand by about 150 other Kingston guards that the five dormitories there—built to take the overflow from prison cells—be closed.

25-Year Jail Term Quashed on Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal has quashed the conviction of a man sentenced to 25 years for rape.

The court, in a decision Wednesday, freed John A. Watt, 32, sentenced in Assize Court last February. He was convicted of raping a 28-year-old mother of three last December after a beer-drinking spree.

U.S. to Seek Tariff Deals With ECM

GENEVA (AP)—United States Commerce Undersecretary Edward Gudeman said today the U.S. government must have authority to negotiate sweeping tariff deals with the European Common Market.

Such deals are necessary because the United States "has really got to push" its exports to make up for well over $5,000,000,000 that flows out of the country every year, Gudeman told a luncheon of Geneva American Club.

Canadiens Call Up Sub for Johnson

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens have called up defenceman Jean Gauthier from their Eastern Professional Hockey League farm team to replace Tom Johnson who suffered an eye injury in Wednesday night's National Hockey League game in Toronto.

Johnson is still in hospital in Toronto and the club does not yet know when he will be able to return to action.

Impaired Charges
Face Two Politicos

NANAIMO (CP)—NPD-CCF Opposition leader Robert Strachan was charged here Wednesday with impaired driving and remanded a week without plea.

Strachan, leader of the party in the province, was arrested last weekend, told he was going to be charged and then allowed to go home.

No reporters were in court when Strachan appeared Wednesday.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harry McQuillan, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Comox-Alberni, was charged with impaired driving here Wednesday after a three-car collision.

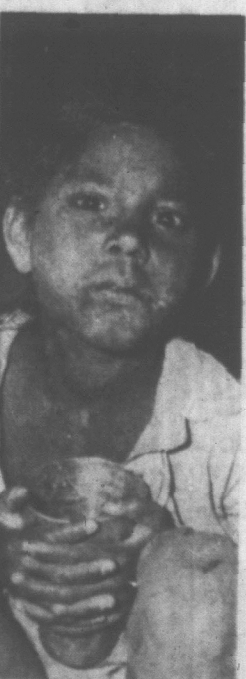

Mrs. Elsie Watts, 53, was taken to hospital following the accident, suffering a possible fractured skull.

Police said the accident happened when McQuillan's car crashed into the rear of the car driven by Mrs. Watts. Her car then hit a vehicle driven by James K. Sheehan, 20. Sheehan and McQuillan were uninjured.

The MP was to appear in court later today.

CHILDREN OF INDIA

Young and Old Heed Call

If this were your child would you grudge him milk?

As the Times Children of India Fund progresses it is apparent that the call for help is reaching nearly all ages and groups in Victoria.

Kind friends have donated large sums to the fund but equally appreciated by "skin and bone" youngsters in India are the small gifts from those who have little to give.

"A small addition to your fund," wrote an old age pensioner, "and may the Lord bless your efforts."

"From a little boy (five), who knows the children need this far more than he will for Christmas," read another heart-warming note containing $1.

Many donations are received from parents in the names of their children.

"When I compare my kiddies to those Indian children," said an anonymous father, "I am only sorry I can't give more."

The Unitarian Services Committee, on whose behalf the Times is conducting this campaign, was founded in 1945 by current executive-director Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova.

It is completely non-denominational and is recognized by the Canadian government as a voluntary organization.

Contributions are deductible from taxable income and should be mailed or taken to "The Times Children of India Fund," 2631 Douglas.

Donations of clothing can be sent or taken to 1117 Wharf Street.

Formal Talks?
—Never

PENTICTON (CP)—Senator Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the United States senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce, says that no formal talks have ever taken place between Premier Bennett and President Kennedy on the Columbia Treaty.

Interviewed by Penticton Herald editor Jim Hume following a speech to the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, Senator Magnuson said Tuesday any discussion on the Columbia was very informal.

"There definitely was not a formal talk between Premier Bennett and President Kennedy," the senator said. "If the matter was mentioned at all it was in a most informal way either during the banquet (at Seattle) or in brief after-dinner conversation. There was no formal talk."

During his speech to the Spokane chamber, Senator Magnuson appealed to some 20 Penticton Chamber of Commerce guests to "do what you can to urge ratification of the treaty."

"Each day we delay hurts both our countries."

CHURCHILL 87 TODAY

Oysters, Chops, Wine
His Birthday Feast

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, 87 years old today, walked into the House of Commons this afternoon and was greeted by birthday cheers from his fellow members of Parliament.

Entering the House—after a luncheon of oysters and lamb chops, washed down by champagne—the former prime minister made the customary bow to the Speaker.

At the sight of Churchill, his fellow Conservatives and opposition MPs filled the hall with cheers.

Sir David Eccles, minister of education, who was answering questions, stopped in the middle of a sentence and shouted: "I am sure all right honorable and honorable members will wish to give Sir Winston our affectionate and respectful good wishes on the occasion of his birthday."

New cheers sounded through the House.

Even the spectators' gallery joined the cheering. This is decidedly against the rules—but the Speaker made no move to halt it.

His eyes filled with tears, Churchill—who had reached his seat during the cheering—slowly rose. With the aid of his walking stick, he stood upright and bowing to his fellow Conservatives and to the opposition, said:

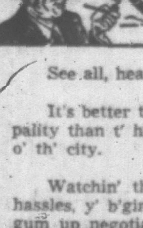

"I am very grateful to the House."

This was the signal for more cheering.

Prime Minister Macmillan turned to him and said: "Perhaps I might be allowed to add my tribute to the greatest of my predecessors."

Dief Gives Hint
Of Latest MoveBy VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker implied today his government is prepared to resume negotiations with British Columbia on the financing of the Columbia River power development.

He was asked on his way into the morning cabinet meeting, regarding the Columbia River developments in the news, "Where do we go from here. What happens next?"

The prime minister replied that the Tuesday night speech given by Justice Minister E. D. Fulton at Prince George had provided the answers to those questions.

LETTER KEPT SECRET

Asked if Finance Minister Donald Fleming would be ready to accept an invitation from Premier W. A. C. Bennett to resume negotiations, Mr. Diefenbaker said with a smile:

"We are pen pals. I mean Mr. Fleming and Mr. Bennett are pen pals."

Finance Minister Fleming declined to discuss a letter he has received from Premier Bennett.

The press in eastern Canada has been playing up the "tough speech" made by Justice Minister Fulton as a bitter attack not only against B.C. but also against the United States. It received headline treatment in most eastern papers.

SPEECH CRITICIZED

The Toronto Globe and Mail (Conservative) commented editorially Thursday on the Fulton speech. It was critical. It pointed out that the statements attributed to U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall were "capable of a more innocuous interpretation than Mr. Fulton put upon them."

It added, "Not only do Mr. Fulton's words inject unnecessary international bitterness into a situation already embittered but they distract attention from the real and vital issues which are at stake in the dispute."

UDALL

And Forget

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Stewart Udall may be ready to forgive and forget in the hope of speeding a final decision on the Columbia River power controversy.

The U.S. interior secretary, stung by an attack by Canadian Justice Minister Davie Fulton, is reported willing to meet with Fulton or other Canadian officials in the hope of reconciling cross-border views and speeding Canadian ratification of the treaty.

Udall's latest position became known after he conferred privately with Livingston T. Merchant, U.S. ambassador to Canada, Wednesday afternoon. Merchant then hurried back to Ottawa.

First reports from those close to Udall indicated he would seek an explanation of Fulton's accusations from Canadian Ambassador Arnold Heeney but the Canadian embassy said it had received no request from the interior department for information or consultation.

DENIES TAKING SIDES

Fulton, in his Prince George, B.C., speech, accused Udall of having "side" talks with Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia and having joined a high-geared propaganda campaign to press the Canadian government into approval.

BENNETT TO TELL WHY
FULTON 'WENT BERSERK'

By FRANK RUTTER

Premier Bennett will tell Friday why Federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton "went berserk at Prince George."

The announcement came in a strongly-worded memorandum today signed by the premier's executive assistant William C. Budd.

It broke the premier's silence since Mr. Fulton Tuesday night savagely attacked him and U.S. officials for promoting a "squeeze play" to "sell out" the Columbia River power project.

It left the impression that the fur will really fly Friday.

Mr. Bennett will also disclose the contents of a letter mailed Monday to Federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming and which is believed to fully and firmly state B.C.'s position on the Columbia treaty between Canada and the U.S.

This is the memorandum, given to the press gallery this morning:

"The premier will give a press conference Friday morning at 10 o'clock and will give the real reasons why Fulton gave his partisan political tirade and went berserk at Prince George. Also the premier will release his letter to Finance Minister Fleming of last Monday which was received in Ottawa before Fulton's speech."

"The comparison of the premier's letter and Fulton's speech will show who has taken a statesmanlike course and also show who is playing politics."

Mr. Fulton in Prince George charged

the premier with "partisanship, gamesmanship" and "one-upmanship."

He invited the premier to "show some statesmanship."

The premier's letter to Mr. Fleming is expected to state B.C.'s terms for financing the Columbia project.

The premier earlier said he wants to sell all the downstream benefits from the Columbia to the U.S. He said this sale at a price of 5 mills would finance the three Canadian Columbia dams.

Mr. Fulton declared Ottawa unalterably opposed to this plan.

What may have upset Premier Bennett about the fierce Fulton attacks on himself and the U.S. is that the letter to Mr. Fleming contains a new proposal on financing—one which might prove attractive to Ottawa.

The premier's last formal financing proposal contained two choices: either Ottawa assist in paying costs to meet a guaranteed delivery price of Columbia power to B.C., or Ottawa take over the entire project.

There has been speculation since the Fulton speech that the takeover is a distinct possibility.

However, there is doubt in B.C. that the move would be either attractive or practical.

It would certainly leave Ottawa with a lot of problems, chief of which would be to find a market for power from the Columbia. The only B.C. markets are controlled by Premier Bennett.
